Time Space Compression Historical Geographies Routledge Studies In Human Geography:

Time-Space Compression Barney Warf, 2008-03-03 If geography is the study of how human beings are stretched over the earth's surface a vital part of that process is how we know and feel about space and time. Although space and time appear as natural and outside of society they are in fact social constructions every society develops different ways of measuring, organizing and perceiving them. Given steady increases in the volume and velocity of social transactions over space, time and space have steadily shrunk via the process of time space compression. By changing the time space prisms of daily life how people use their times and spaces, the opportunities and constraints they face, the meanings they attach to them, time space compression is simultaneously cultural, social, political and psychological in nature. This book explores how various social institutions and technologies historically generated enormous improvements in transportation and communications that produced transformative reductions in the time and cost of interactions among places, creating ever changing geographies of centrality and peripherality. Warf invokes a global perspective on early modern, late modern and postmodern capitalism. He makes use of data concerning travel times at various historical junctures, maps of distances between places at different historical moments, anecdotal analyses based on published accounts of people's sense of place, examinations of cultural forms that represented space e.g. paintings and quotes about the culture of speed. Warf shows how time space compression varies under different historical and geographical conditions, indicating that it is not one single homogenous process but a complex, contingent and contested one. This book will be a useful book for those studying and researching Geography, History, Sociology and Political Science as well as Anthropology and Philosophy. Handbook of Globalisation and Tourism Dallen J.

Timothy, 2019-12-27 Globalization entails the world becoming a smaller place through political, socio-cultural and economic processes. These processes have salient implications for tourism and tourism itself is one of the driving forces behind globalization. This book is a collection of conceptual treatises by international scholars about the dynamics and reach of globalization and its relationships with tourism. It anatomizes and deconstructs the global forces, processes and challenges that face the world of tourism. It is international in scope, encyclopedic in its conceptual depth, empirically evocative and contemporary in its coverage. The Geography of Transport Systems Jean-Paul Rodrigue, 2024-04-30 This expanded and revised sixth edition of The Geography of Transport Systems provides a comprehensive and accessible introduction to the field with a broad overview of its concepts, methods and areas of application. It explores the spatial aspects of transportation and focuses on how the mobility of passengers and freight is linked with geography. The book is divided into ten chapters, each covering a specific conceptual dimension including networks, modes, terminals, freight transportation, urban transportation and environmental impacts, and is updated with the latest information available. The sixth edition offers new and updated material on information technologies and mobility, e-commerce, transport and the economy, mobility and society, supply chains, security, pandemics, energy and the environment and climate change. With over 140 updated figures and maps.

The Geography of Transport Systems presents transportation systems at different scales ranging from global to local This volume is an essential resource for undergraduates studying transportation as well as those interested in economic and urban geography transport planning and engineering A companion website which contains additional material such as photographs maps figures and PowerPoint presentations has been developed for the book and can be found here <https://transportgeography.org>
