Thyroid And Heart Failure From Pathophysiology To Clinics:

Thyroid and Heart Failure Giorgio Iervasi,Alessandro Pingitore,2009-08-29 Both thyroid dysfunction and heart failure show a high prevalence in the adult population Frequently in clinical practice a multidisciplinary approach is useful to optimize the management of patients with these conditions Although there is no doubt regarding the close link between cardiovascular pathophysiology and thyroid homeostasis our understanding of this association is far from being exhaustive Thyroid hormone regulates the expression of cardiac specific functional contractile and structural proteins and plays a pivotal role in modulating both diastolic and systolic function as well as peripheral vascular resistance The close relationship between thyroid and heart dysfunction is strongly supported by recent evidence demonstrating that an altered thyroid profile is a negative prognostic predictor in patients with heart failure The treatment of chronic heart failure especially in advanced stages of the disease continues to be an open and challenging field The potential of novel thyroid hormone therapies that address the molecular biology of thyroid dysfunction and heart failure thus represents an attractive area of multidisciplinary scientific interest This book is a readable integrated and highly up to date presentation of the clinical pathophysiological and basic science aspects of thyroid heart failure interactions It addresses a complex subject in an approach that targets a large audience of readers

Thyroid and Heart Failure Giorgio Iervasi,Alessandro Pingitore,2009-10-08 Both thyroid dysfunction and heart failure show a high prevalence in the adult population Frequently in clinical practice a multidisciplinary approach is useful to optimize the management of patients with these conditions Although there is no doubt regarding the close link between cardiovascular pathophysiology and thyroid homeostasis our understanding of this association is far from being exhaustive Thyroid hormone regulates the expression of cardiac specific functional contractile and structural proteins and plays a pivotal role in modulating both diastolic and systolic function as well as peripheral vascular resistance. The close relationship between thyroid and heart dysfunction is strongly supported by recent evidence demonstrating that an altered thyroid profile is a negative prognostic predictor in patients with heart failure. The treatment of chronic heart failure especially in advanced stages of the disease continues to be an open and challenging field. The potential of novel thyroid hormone therapies that address the molecular biology of thyroid dysfunction and heart failure thus represents an attractive area of multidisciplinary scientific interest. This book is a readable integrated and highly up to date presentation of the clinical pathophysiological and basic science aspects of thyroid heart failure interactions. It addresses a complex subject in an approach that targets a large audience of readers.

Heart Failure,

An Issue of Cardiology Clinics Howard J Eisen, 2014-02-28 Over 5.7 million people in America carry a diagnosis of heart failure, the incidence of which approaches 1 in 100 people over the age of 65. The cost to society is estimated at 29 billion annually and over 1.1 million hospital admissions. For hospitalized heart failure patients, the 30 day readmission rate approaches 25%. As our population ages, these numbers are expected to grow. This issue of Cardiology Clinics helps practitioners to manage patients at all ACC/AHA stages of heart failure and addresses key issues that include sudden cardiac death, arrhythmias, acute decompensated heart failure and heart failure with preserved ejection fraction.

Heart Failure, An Issue of Critical Nursing Clinics Jennifer Kitchens, 2016-01-07 Heart failure is the only cardiovascular disease that is increasing. The impact on the critical care environment and the health care system as a whole is significant from both a cost and burden to the system perspective. There are 6.5 million hospital days a year and nearly 40 billion dollars in yearly health care costs attributed to heart failure in the United States. There are more Medicare monies spent for diagnosing and treating heart failure than any other Diagnosis Related Group. There is a 24% hospital re-admission rate for this diagnosis which leads to financial implications for health care systems. The human cost is also significant. Less than half of Americans diagnosed with heart failure survive greater than 5 years. The ongoing health care needs and cost of this chronic disease takes a significant toll on patients finances time and quality of life Over 2 9 billion dollars is spent annually on the pharmaceutical management of heart failure in the United States This diagnosis is the leading cause of hospitalization for patients who are 65 years of age and older Few health care providers in the critical care environment are not affected by heart failure on a routine basis Caring for these patients and their families is both a challenging and yet a rewarding experience This edition will provide critical care nurses with a comprehensive heart failure review which is essential in caring for this challenging population given the dynamic health and critical care environments
