

Recent SGA proposal brings bookstore protest

A controversy has arisen over the reported miswording of a Student Government Association resolution passed at the group's Oct. 24 meeting.

After a request that the Senior Center Student Fee be increased to the SGA submitted a proposal to the Board of Regents that read:

"That the SGA recommend that the Lamar University Board of Regents seek rent, royalties, and/or other appropriate monies necessary to maintain the Senior Student Center from the University Bookstore, ABA, Seamen and any other non-university profit-making organization using SSC facilities."

University Bookstore Manager Pete Platts, voiced his opposition to the proposal's wording which labeled the bookstore as a "non-university profit-making organization."

"The Bookstore was here long before the Senior Center and paid the funds outstanding on the Bookstore building with its proceeds of these profits," Platts explained.

He stated further that present bookstore profits are now being used to pay for funds on other University structures, including the Senior Center. Platts added, "I don't see how we can be labeled as 'non-university' in the resolution when in fact we've paid our bills and do our share in the responsibility of paying others. The term 'non-university profit-making organization' projects the image of a hit and run operation by the bookstore to the students."

Senior Center Director, Larry Markley, is seeking additional funds to counter the financial difficulties the Senior Center has experienced due to the decreased enrollment and the increased costs of services. Markley pointed out that he is not involved with the method chosen to obtain the needed funds, only with the appropriateness of them to alleviate the financial burden now placed on the Senior Center.

If the funds are not obtained by the fall semester of 1977 Markley states that "some changes would have to be made. This could include the shortening of Senior Center operating hours."

Students alarmed by the continually increased fees they must pay that do not directly affect their education prompted the SGA proposal. The resolution, which was sent on to the Board of Regents containing the questionable wording, was presented as an alternative to increasing the student fee by $5 an increase from $20 to $25.

SGA chairmen named

The Student Government Association has named its committee chairmen for the various committees and have set goals for the committees.

The Academic Affairs committee is headed by psychology major Greg Vela. The committee is beginning work on a course description catalogue. The catalogue will contain a listing of each course and each teacher who teaches that course.

Each teacher will be asked to return a questionnaire on what will be expected of the student in his course, and this information will be included in the catalogue. Academic Affairs is also working on an honors program for "above average" students.

The State Affairs committee has as its chairmen, Jim Palmer and, per-lare major. This committee is striving to put students on the governing board of Texas universities. Wade is also a member of the Senior Center fee committee, which is looking into the possible source of revenue to fund the operation of the Senior Center without an increase in student fees.

The Investigative Committee's chairman is Shabana Farah. The purpose of this committee is to investigate problems within the University itself. It handles student complaints and oversees the running of all student programs.

The Public Relations Committee is chaired by Virginia Gaffney, nursing major. This committee staffs 15 Student University students of the work of the SGA, on campus and off.

The Consumer Guide Committee is chaired by Wendy Marshall. This committee works on the Consumer Guide to see that students are given fair prices for local businesses.

Anyone interested in working on any of these Committees may contact the committee chairmen at rooms 112 in the Senior Center.
