Weeds of Kentucky and Adjacent States: A Field Guide Patricia Dalton Haragan, Among the darkest corners of Kentucky's past are the grisly feuds that tore apart the hills of Eastern Kentucky from the late nineteenth century until well into the twentieth. Now from the tangled threads of conflicting testimony John Ed Pearce Kentucky's best known journalist weaves engrossing accounts of six of the most notorious accounts to uncover what really happened and why. His story of those days of darkness brings to light new evidence questions commonly held beliefs about the feuds and us and long running feuds those in Breathitt Clay Harlan Perry Pike and Rowan counties. What caused the feuds that left Kentucky with its lingering reputation for violence? Who were the feudists and what forces social political financial hurled them at each other? Did Big Jim Howard really kill Governor William Goebel? Did Joe Eversole die trying to protect small mountain landowners from ruthless Eastern mineral exploiters? Did the Hatfield McCoy fight start over a hog? For years Pearce has interviewed descendants of feuding families and examined skimpy court records and often fictional newspaper puts to rest some of the more popular legends.

Vascular Plants of Kentucky Edward T. Browne, Raymond Athey, 1992 White southerners recognized that the perpetuation of segregation required whites of all ages to uphold a strict social order especially the young members of the next generation. White children rested at the core of the system of segregation between 1890 and 1939 because their participation was crucial to ensuring the future of white supremacy. Their socialization in the segregated South offers an examination of white supremacy from the inside showcasing the culture's efforts to preserve itself by teaching its beliefs to the next generation. In Raising Racists: The Socialization of White Children in the Jim Crow South author Kristina DuRocher reveals how white adults in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries continually reinforced race and gender roles to maintain white supremacy. DuRocher examines the practices mores and traditions that trained white children to fear dehumanize and disdain their black neighbors. Raising Racists combines an analysis of the remembered experiences of a racist society how that society influenced children and most important how racial violence and brutality shaped growing up in the early twentieth century South.

Weeds Nina Edwards, 2024-10-13 A wide ranging scientific and cultural history of weeds that reveals just how interesting and useful these seemingly annoying plants can be We spray them pluck them and bury them under mulch and we curse their resilience when they spring back into place To most of us weeds are a nuisance not worth the dirt they are growing in But the fact is weeds are a plant just like any other and it is only we who designate them as a weed or not as a plant we will dote over or one we will tear out of the earth with abandon And as Nina Edwards shows in this history that designation is constantly changing Balancing popular history with botanical science she tells the story of the lowly but proud weed As Edwards shows the idea of the weed is a slippery one constantly changing under different needs fashions and contexts In a tightly controlled field of corn a scarlet poppy is a bright red intruder but in other parts of the world it is an important cultural symbol a potent and lucrative pharmaceutical source or simply a beautiful lakeside ornament What we consider a pest Aristolochia Rotunda or fat hen was in Neolithic times a staple crop its seeds an important source of nutrition Sprinkled with personal anecdotes and loads of useful information Weeds sketches history after history of the fashions and attitudes that have shaped our gardens showing us that it is just as important what we keep out of them as what we put in and that just because we despise one species does not mean that there haven't been others whose very lives have depended on it Invasive Plants John M. Randall, Janet Marinelli, Brooklyn Botanic Garden, 1996 Identifies the worst invasive weeds and explains what to do about them to help preserve native plants and animals Weed Technology, 1991 Kentucky Libraries, 1990 Brittonia, 1992 Tennessee Librarian, 1994 Library Journal, 1991 The publishers weekly, 1991 Now and Then, 1992 The Olmsted Parks of Louisville Patricia Dalton
