Weatherland Writers Artists Under English:

Weatherland Alexandra Harris, 2016-03-01 A lively look at the English literary and artistic responses to the weather from Chaucer and Shakespeare to Keats and Ian McEwan In a sweeping panorama Weatherland allows us to witness England's cultural climates across the centuries Before the Norman Conquest Anglo Saxons living in a wintry world wrote about the coldness of exile or the shelters they had to defend against enemies outside The Middle Ages brought the warmth of spring the new lyrics were sung in praise of blossoms and cuckoos Descriptions of a rainy night are rare before 1700 but by the end of the eighteenth century the Romantics had adopted the squall as a fit subject for their most probing thoughts The weather is vast and yet we experience it intimately and Alexandra Harris builds her remarkable story from small evocative details There is the drawing of a twelfth century man in February warming bare toes by the fire There is the tiny glass left behind from the Frost Fair of 1684 and the Sunspan house in Angmering that embodies the bright ambitions of the 1930s Harris catches the distinct voices of compelling individuals Bloody cold says Jonathan Swift in the slobbery January of 1713 Percy Shelley wants to become a cloud and John Ruskin wants to bottle one Weatherland is a celebration of English air and a life story of those who have lived in it

Weatherland Alexandra Harris, 2016-07-01 Writers and artists across the centuries from Chaucer to Ian McEwan and from the creator of the Luttrell Psalter in the 14th century to John Piper in the 20th looking up at the same skies and walking in the same brisk air have felt very different things and woven them into their novels poems and paintings Alexandra Harris's subject is not the weather itself but the weather as it is daily recreated in the human imagination She builds her remarkable story from small evocative details and catches the distinct voices of compelling individuals Bloody cold says Jonathan Swift in the slobbery January of 1713 Percy Shelley wants to become a cloud and John Ruskin wants to bottle one Weatherland is both a sweeping panorama of cultural climates on the move and a richly illustrated intimate account for although weather is vast it is experienced physically emotionally and spiritually as Harris cleverly reveals it is at the very heart of English life and culture groundbreaking reassessment of English cultural life in the thirties and forties In the 1930s and 1940s while the battles for modern art and modern society were being fought in Paris and Spain it seemed to some a betrayal that John Betjeman and John Piper were in love with a provincial world of old churches and tea shops Alexandra Harris tells a different story eclectically passionately wittily urgently English artists were exploring what it meant to be alive at that moment and in England They showed that the modern need not be at war with the past constructivists and conservatives could work together and even the Bauhaus migr Lszl Moholy Nagy was beguiled into taking photos for Betjeman's nostalgic An Oxford University Chest A rich network of personal and cultural encounters was the backdrop for a modern English renaissance This great imaginative project was shared by writers painters gardeners architects critics and composers Piper abandoned purist
