Using the Internet for Active Teaching and Learning Steven C. Mills, 2006 For courses in Computers in Education Are you ready to make use of the power of the Internet to support your teaching

Using the Internet for Active Teaching and Learning combines both theory and practice to introduce you to the Internet's potential as a teaching tool in your classroom. With student learning as its goal, the book is organized by its functions in the classroom: from communication to locating and evaluating information, publishing information, problem solving, cooperative problem solving, inquiry and discovery, and online collaborations.

Teaching Children Science Joseph Abruscato, 2000. This revision of a very successful science methods text includes coverage of methods, activities, and science content. Teaching Children Science presents current ideas about teaching children science in a motivating, engaging style that will positively draw students towards the teaching of science to young children. There are nine basic science teaching methods chapters and three potentially free-standing parts that focus respectively on how to teach Earth, Space, Life, and Physical Science content. Each of these three parts has a lesson and unit plan followed by chapters that provide science content and chapters that contain activities and demonstrations for children. Through its structure, writing style, and attention to contemporary issues, this volume serves as an important resource in teaching students to create science experiences within the context of discovery learning, thereby providing students with the necessary skills and knowledge to fully comprehend that they will be teaching children science, not the other way around. For readers with an interest in science and perhaps drawing children to the teaching of science as a career choice.

Curriculum Webs Craig A. Cunningham, Marty Billingsley, 2006. 0205459404. Cunningham Curriculum Webs 2/e. Curriculum Webs helps in-service teachers, curriculum developers, and pre-service teachers build and use the World Wide Web as a central resource to facilitate learning. A curriculum web is a Web page or web site designed to support a unit of curriculum. This text describes the process of building curriculum webs from the early planning stages through design of the Web pages using the finished product in classrooms, reflecting on the results, and revising for further use. Readers will see how successful Web-based curricula can be developed based on the stages of curriculum development and the needs of learners. On the Companion Web site, curriculumwebs.com, Hands-On Lessons for various web editing software show specific procedures for implementing the ideas contained in the book. The companion web site also includes numerous links to resources and further examples.
