Time In History Views Of Time From Prehistory To The Present Day:

Time in History G. J. Whitrow, 1989 In this intriguing book G J Whitrow traces the evolution of our general awareness of time and its significance from the dawn of history to the present day His absorbing study ranges from Ancient Egypt and Persia Greece and Israel to the Islamic world India and China and Europe and America showing the different ways time has been perceived by various civilizations

From Eternity to Time Aino Mäkikalli, 2007 This study examines different conceptions of time in Daniel Defoe's 1660-1731 novels The temporal aspects of the novels are surveyed taking into account the historical situation of the novel as a genre and contemporary conceptions of time The modernisation process of the Western world serves as a wider context of the study as present research indicates that Defoe's novels exemplify a multilayered shift from pre-modern Western conceptions of time to those of the modern age The author also explores gendered time and economic and cultural values of time in Defoe's novels The book contributes a fresh analysis of Defoe's novels and demonstrates the crucial relation between historical cultural conceptions of time and the historically changing genre of the novel

Against the Fetishisation of Plural Time Nitin Sinha, 2025-06-02 From the viewpoint of social history is time itself a plural entity or are there multiple forms of engagement in and with it Pivoted around this question Sinha attempts to rethink the current theory and practice of history writing by pointing the pitfalls of the growing fetishisation of plurality and the plural time framework Engaging a range of studies in History Anthropology and Sociology Sinha provides a critical assessment of some of the leading frameworks on time studies questions their foundational premises highlights their limitations and proposes an alternative framework that is attuned to privileging the approach of social history The purposes of the latter the book argues is best served when time's irreversible character is not diluted under the weight of plurality Plurality in time is an outcome of practices and their historicisation plurality of time can become an empty statement Rather than defining what time is the book casts that inquiry into the historical mould to explore how time as a contestatory resource becomes part of social relationships and what it does to them when scripts of power align themselves with the control of time

Time, History, and Belief in Aztec and Colonial Mexico Ross Hassig, 2013-12-18 This illuminating study offers a radical new understanding of how the Aztecs and other Mesoamerican societies conceived of time and history Based on their enormously complex calendars that recorded cycles of many kinds the Aztecs and other ancient Mesoamerican civilizations are generally believed to have had a cyclical rather than linear conception of time and history This boldly revisionist book challenges that understanding Ross Hassig offers convincing evidence that for the Aztecs time was predominantly linear that it was manipulated by the state as a means of controlling a dispersed tribute empire and that the Conquest cut off state control and severed the unity of the calendar leaving only the lesser cycles From these he asserts we have inadequately reconstructed the pre-Columbian calendar and so misunderstood the Aztec conception of time and history Hassig first presents the traditional explanation of the Aztec calendrical system and its ideological functions and then marshals contrary evidence to argue that the Aztec elite deliberately used calendars and timekeeping to achieve practical political ends He further traces how the Conquest played out in the temporal realm as Spanish conceptions of time partially displaced the Aztec ones

Model-Based Reasoning in Science and Technology Lorenzo Magnani,2013-08-31 This book contains contributions presented during the international conference on Model Based Reasoning MBR 012 held on June 21 23 in Sestri Levante Italy Interdisciplinary researchers discuss in this volume how scientific cognition and other kinds of cognition make use of models abduction and explanatory reasoning in order to produce important or creative changes in theories and concepts Some of the contributions analyzed the problem of model based reasoning in technology and stressed the issues of scientific and technological innovation The book is divided in three main parts models mental models representations abduction problem solving and practical reasoning historical epistemological and technological issues The volume is based on the papers that were presented at the international

Between Geography and History Katherine Clarke,2000-01-13 The late Hellenistic period witnessed the rise of an imperial power whose dominion extended across almost the whole known world The Roman empire radically affected geographical conceptions evoking new ways of describing the earth and of constructing its history In this book the writings of three literary figures of the age are explored the History of Polybius two fragmentary works of Posidonius and the universal Geography of Strabo Analysis in terms of the philosophical concepts of time and space reveals the generic fluidity of such geographical and historical works Furthermore these broadly conceived accounts are shown to be appropriate literary media for the response to Roman power They use but transform pre existing Greek traditions in order to describe the new world of Rome making them fitting products of a transitional age This book provides a new approach to Roman imperialism by considering its impact on historiography and geographical thought

Civilization Critical Darrin Qualman,2019-05-14T00:00:00Z The modern world is wondrous Its factories produce ten thousand cars every hour and ten trillion transistors every second We carry supercomputers in our pockets and nearly a million people are in the air at any time In Civilization Critical Darrin Qualman takes readers on a tour of the wonders of the 21st century But the great strength of our modern world is also its great weakness Our immense powers to turn resources and nature into products and waste imperil our future And plans to double and redouble the size of the global economy veto sustainability So is our civilization doomed No Doom is a choice We can make different choices Qualman demonstrates that a 19th and 20th century transition to linear systems and away from the circular patterns of nature and of all previous civilizations is the foundational error the underlying problem the root cause of climate change resource depletion oceans full of plastics and a host of mega problems now intensifying and merging with potentially civilization cracking results In this sweeping work Qualman reinterprets and re explains the problems we face today and charts a clear hopeful path into the future

The Great Rift Michael E. Hobart,2018-04-16 Michael Hobart locates the great rift between science and religion not in ideological disagreement but in advances in mathematics and symbolic representation that moved past language to open new windows onto the natural world His work connects the cognitive breakthroughs of the past with intellectual debates ongoing in the twenty first century History and Memory in the Carolingian World Rosamond McKitterick,2004-07-29 The writing and reading of history in the early Middle Ages form the key themes of this 2004 book The primary focus is on the remarkable manifestations of historical writing in relation to historical memory in the Frankish kingdoms of the eighth and ninth centuries It considers the audiences for history in the Frankish kingdoms the recording of memory in new genres including narrative histories cartularies and Libri memoriales and thus particular perceptions of the Frankish and Christian past It analyses both original manuscript material and key historical texts from the Carolingian period a remarkably creative period in the history of European culture Presentations of the past developed in this period were crucial in forming an historical understanding of the Greco Roman and Judaeo Christian past and in subsequent centuries of early medieval Europe They also played an extraordinarily influential role in the formation of political ideologies and senses of identity within Europe The Magical World of Baruch Elron Miriam Or,2001 History Albert Frederick Pollard,Harold Felix Baker Wheeler,1917 Conceptualizing Global History Bruce Mazlish,Ralph Buultjens,1993-09-07 This book examines our entrance into a global epoch and the need for a historical awareness to match that event It attempts to foster a new scholarly perspective a new historical consciousness and a new subfield of history The contributors offer both a theoretical treatment and a number of applied examples of what global history is and how it might be written The New Media Theory Reader Robert Hassan,Julian Thomas,2006-09 The study of new media opens up some of the most fascinating issues in contemporary culture bringing together key readings on new media what it is where it came from how it affects our lives and how it is managed It encourages readers to pay attention to the new in new media as well as consider it as a historical phenomenon Essays in French Colonial History French Colonial Historical Society. Meeting,Andrew John Bayly Johnston,1997 On 31 May 3 June 1995 more than 200 participants gathered in Sydney and at Fortress Louisbourg Nova Scotia for the 21st annual conference of the French Colonial Historical Society Essays in French Colonial History contains seventeen of the best articles presented at this meeting It is a wide ranging collection that explores many new and innovative facets of the French experience outre mer The contributors a mix of established experts and younger scholars examine French activity in North America the West Indies Africa and South America and focus on issues military social cultural native and political history Among the subject areas explored are the 16th century French colonies in Brazil and Florida Victor Hugues and the Reign of Terror on Guadeloupe commerce and the distinctiveness of Louisbourg the importance of letter writing and compagnonnage unresolved territory of the Creek Nation case studies in the area of transition patrimonial French colonial interests and policies in Atlantic Canada Africa and South America attitudes among African Americans in post French St Louis and a research report on the Historical Atlas of Quebec Theos, Anthropos, Christos Roy Abraham Varghese,2000 Theos Anthropos Christos A Compendium of Modern Philosophical Theology is an anthology of 21 essays two thirds of them appearing for the first time by noted thinkers who rigorously deploy the tools of modern thought to re-examine and restate the central insights of classical philosophy. In natural theology the contributors address the challenge of influential varieties of skepticism while developing a cogent and coherent framework of thought to defend the existence as well as the simplicity, immutability, goodness, and infinity of God. In philosophy of mind they counter modern materialisms with an extensive defense of the existence of a mental reality which is radically nonphysical. In moral philosophy the contributors consider the contradictions of relativism and the application of rationally defensible norms to contemporary ethical debates. The final section comprises a critique of syncretism in comparative religion and a phenomenological analysis of the New Testament's Jesus.

History and Change Anu Lahtinen, Kirsi Vainio-Korhonen, 2004. Historical research is connected to the idea of change and in our ways of understanding it. Inspired by the past and gazing towards the future, historians are needed as critical and self-critical participants in the search for changes and new directions. These changes are discussed in this book based on the themes and papers presented at the History and Change Conference which was organized in autumn 2001 at the University of Turku. The themes of the conference were Changing Roles of Women and Men, Changing Cultural and Technical Environment, and Changing Politics in 20th century Europe, and the contributions to this book follow these lines. Each of the authors of the seventeen articles in History and Change observes change from their own starting point which highlights the different ways in which the concept of change is woven into the pattern of historical research.

Time's Pendulum Jo Ellen Barnett, 1998-03-21. Jo Ellen Barnett takes us a step further in our perpetual quest to comprehend time. She bridges the gap between the mechanical clocks which record the fleeting moment as it passes and the powerful radioactive clocks which have opened up to us the eons of the earth's history by showing that both are based upon the counting of identical time segments. Beginning with a historical look at clocks to tell the time of day, she discusses the impact of such inventions as the church bell, the pendulum, and the wristwatch on human culture and explains how they've gradually transformed our perception, not only of the world but of time itself.
