Enríquez, 2015-09-30 It is manifest in developing countries around the world that the shock therapy administered to their economies by the neoliberal model of structural adjustment has failed leaving much social and economic destruction in its wake In Latin America this failure has led to a resurgence of interest in alternative models some of them deploying various versions of socialism as in Bolivia Chile and Venezuela which has given rise to talk about the new pink tide enveloping the region In this comparative study of four economies that have been making a transition to the market from their orthodox socialist pasts Laura Enríquez focuses our attention on the plight of the small farmer in particular and on the importance of this sector for the overall socioeconomic success of the transition Through this comparison we see the similarities between Nicaragua and Russia in their rapid retreat from socialism and their adoption of reforms that have placed small agriculture especially that focused on food crops at a distinct disadvantage relative to export oriented production. By contrast Cuba has been more like China in adopting aspects of market reform while emphasizing small scale cooperative and private farming in an effort to achieve food self sufficiency. Drawing insights from Karl Polanyi's study of the social and economic effects of the expansion of market relations in the nineteenth century Enríquez highlights the role of the state in each of these countries in driving change in a certain direction toward the emphasis of small scale farming and the eventual assumed demise of the peasantry in Nicaragua and Russia which has led to countermovements of peasants struggling to survive and toward the reconfirmation of the value of small farming in contributing to balanced economic development in Cuba and China.

Retelling the Nicaraguan Revolution as a Dionysian Ritual Martina Handler, 2010. Uncountable books have been written on the Nicaraguan revolution in 1979 due to the fascination connected with the idea of revolution in general and with its realization in Nicaragua in particular. This book retells the story of the Nicaraguan revolution with the words of women aiming to show how a high level of transformative energy was accumulated in the Nicaraguan society over time based on a common utopian vision of a better future for all. The energetic upheaval can be analyzed as a Dionysian ritual. However, the book also follows up on the Apollonian aftermath of the revolution. Martina Handler is a social scientist and a graduate of the Master Program in Peace Development Security and International Conflict Transformation in Innsbruck Austria.

U.S. Foreign Policy and the Politics of Apology Lora Gerstbauer, 2016-10-14. Acts of contrition and transitional justice admission of wrong apology and reparations have become fashionable in the discourse of international affairs. Using a case study approach that inspires student discussion of concrete examples this text addresses important questions about the politics of apology in relation to some of the most controversial cases of US foreign policy over the past fifty years: Vietnam, Nicaragua, and the most recent war in Iraq. Lora Gerstbauer offers an original transdisciplinary and accessible argument for the practical value of contrition, forgiveness, and reconciliation in international relations while examining why the United States has been a less than contrite nation and offering a prescription for how to change this state of affairs.

Intersectionality Anna Carastathis, 2016-11-01. A 2017 Choice Outstanding Academic Title. Intersectionality intervenes in the field of intersectionality studies: the integrative examination of the effects of racial, gendered, and class power on people's lives. While intersectionality circulates as a buzzword, Anna Carastathis joins other critical voices to urge a more careful reading. Challenging the narratives of arrival that surround it, Carastathis argues that intersectionality is a horizon illuminating ways of thinking that have yet to be realized; consequently, calls to go beyond intersectionality are premature. A provisional interpretation of intersectionality can disorient habits of essentialism, categorical purity, and prototypicality and overcome dynamics of segregation and subordination in political movements. Through a close reading of critical race theorist Kimberlé Williams Crenshaw's germinal texts published more than twenty-five years ago,

Carastathis urges analytic clarity contextual rigor and a politicized historicized understanding of this widely traveling concept Intersectionality s roots in social justice movements and critical intellectual projects specifically Black feminism must be retraced and synthesized with a decolonial analysis so its radical potential to actualize coalitions can be enacted
