The twelve piece anthology was carefully designed to maximize reading and writing abilities using a rich and diverse literature collection. The anthology begins with a sample lesson introducing reading skills, note taking, and literary terms. Following the sample lesson, the stories are arranged by literary elements, and each story contains pre-reading vocabulary exercises and questions, headnotes, a journal entry, worksheet, comprehension quizzes, and writing prompts. SNCC's Stories Sharon Monteith, 2020-10-15. Formed in 1960 in Raleigh, North Carolina, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) was a high profile civil rights collective led by young people. For Howard Zinn in 1964, SNCC members were new abolitionists, but SNCC pursued radical initiatives and Black Power politics in addition to reform. It was committed to grassroots organizing in towns and rural communities, facilitating voter registration and direct action through projects embedded in Freedom Houses, especially in the South. The setting for most of SNCC's stories. Over time, it changed from a tight cadre into a disparate group of many constellations, but stood out among civil rights organizations for its participatory democracy and emphasis on local people deciding the terms of their battle for social change. Organizers debated their role and grappled with SNCC's responsibility to communities, to the walking wounded damaged by racial terrorism, and to individuals who died pursuing racial justice. SNCC's Stories examines the organization's print and publishing culture, uncovering how fundamental self and group narration is for the undersung heroes of social movements. The organizer may be SNCC's dramatis persona, but its writers have been overlooked. In the 1960s, it was assumed established literary figures would write about civil rights, and until now, critical attention has centered on the Black Arts Movement, neglecting what SNCC's writers contributed. Sharon Monteith gathers hard-to-find literature where the freedom movement in the civil rights South is analyzed as subjective history and explored imaginatively. SNCC's print culture consists of field reports, pamphlets, newsletters, fiction, essays, poetry, and plays, which serve as intimate and illuminative sources for understanding political action. SNCC's literary history contributes to the organization's legacy. Deeds of glory, stories of our empire Deeds, 1901. Out of the clouds: into the light.
