Thetics and Categoricals Werner Abraham, Elisabeth Leiss, Yasuhiro Fujinawa, 2020-07-22 Thetics and Categoricals do not belong to the categories of German grammar Thetics were introduced in logic as impersonal and broad focus constructions They left profound and extensive traces in the logic of the late 19th century For the class of thetic propositions the criterion of textual exclusion plays the major role i e the absence of any common grounds and of any anaphorism and background In the foreground are sentences with subject inversion subject suppression and detopicalization These and only these are suitable for text beginnings jokes stage advertisements and solipsistic exclamatives thus speech acts without communicative goals free expressives in the true sense of the word The contributions in this volume not only guide the reader through the history of philosophical logic and distributions of impersonals in contrast to Kantian categorical sentences but also the correspondences in Japanese and Chinese which in contrast to German and English sport specific morphological markers for thetics as opposed to categoricals

Cycles in Language Change Miriam Bouzouita, Anne Breitbarth, Lieven Danckaert, Elisabeth Witzgenhausen, 2019-09-18 This volume explores the multiple aspects of cyclical syntactic change from a wide range of empirical perspectives The notion of linguistic cycle has long been recognized as being relevant to the description of many processes of language change In grammaticalization a given linguistic form loses its lexical meaning and sometimes some of its phonological content and then gradually weakens until it ultimately vanishes This change becomes cyclical when the grammaticalized form is replaced by an innovative item which can then develop along exactly the same pathway But cyclical changes have also been observed in language change outside of grammaticalization proper The chapters in this book reflect the growing interest in the phenomenon of grammaticalization and cyclicity in generative syntax with topics including the diachrony of negation the syntax of determiners and pronominal clitics the internal structure of wh words and logical operators cyclical changes in argument structure and the relationship between morphology and syntax The contributions draw on data from multiple language families such as Indo European Semitic Japonic and Athabascan The volume combines empirical descriptions of novel comparative data with detailed theoretical analysis and will appeal to historical linguists working in formal and usage based frameworks as well as to typologists and scholars interested in language variation and change more broadly
