Music Streaming Around the World David Hesmondhalgh, 2025 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more Music streaming platforms such as Spotify Apple Music YouTube and those offered by Chinese web giant Tencent are now central to everyday musical activity across much of the world with enormous ramifications for musical culture in modern societies Bringing together case studies from twelve countries Music Streaming around the World provides the first international account of how streaming is shaping music culture today by considering the implications of streaming platforms for the production distribution and consumption of recorded music around the globe Copyright's Excess Glynn

Lunney, 2018-04-12 For more than two hundred years copyright in the United States has rested on a simple premise more copyright will lead to more money for copyright owners and more money will lead to more original works of authorship In this important illuminating book Glynn Lunney tests that premise by tracking the rise and fall of the sound recording copyright from 1961 2015 along with the associated rise and fall in sales of recorded music Far from supporting copyright's fundamental premise the empirical evidence finds the exact opposite relationship more revenue led to fewer and lower quality hit songs Lunney's breakthrough research shows that what copyright does is vastly increase the earnings of our most popular artists and songs which net result means fewer hit songs This book should be read by anyone interested in how copyright operates in the real world The Music Export Business Stephen Chen, Shane Homan, Tracy Redhead, Richard

Vella, 2021-04-12 The Music Export Business examines the workings of the fast changing world of music industry exports The music industry is in a state of flux resulting from changes in technology markets government policies and most recently the COVID 19 pandemic In analysing the ability of organisations to access international markets from inception this book assesses global trends in music industry business models including streaming and national export policies The book deploys author interviews with industry insiders including musicians managers record labels and government stakeholders using case studies to highlight cultural and economic value creation in a global value chain Providing research based insights into export readiness in the global music industry this book reassesses the born global phenomenon providing a unique and valuable resource for scholars and reflective practitioners interested in the evolving relationship between music industries national economies government policies and cultural identity Billboard, 2010-10-02 In its 114th year Billboard remains the world's premier weekly music publication and a diverse digital events brand content and data licensing platform Billboard publishes the most trusted charts and offers unrivaled reporting about the latest music video gaming media digital and mobile entertainment issues and trends Affective Computing and Regulation in Brain Computer Interface Zehong

Pelly, 2025-01-07 NATIONAL BESTSELLER A New Yorker GQ The Daily Telegraph London and Library Journal Best Book of 2025 A 2025 Washington Post Notable Nonfiction An NPR Books We Love Most pick Winner of a Certificate of Merit from the 2025 ARSC Awards for Excellence An unsparing investigation into Spotify's origins and influence on music weaving unprecedented reporting with incisive cultural criticism illuminating how streaming is reshaping music for listeners and artists alike Drawing on over one hundred interviews with industry insiders former Spotify employees and musicians Mood Machine takes us to the inner workings of today's highly consolidated record business showing what has changed as music has become increasingly playlisted personalized and autplayed Building on her years of wide ranging reporting on streaming music journalist Liz Pelly details the consequences of the Spotify model by examining both sides of what the company calls its two sided marketplace the listeners who pay with their dollars and data and the musicians who provide the material powering it all The music business is notoriously opaque but here Pelly lifts the veil on major stories like streaming services filling popular playlists with low cost stock music and the rise of new payola like practices For all of the inequities exacerbated by streaming Pelly also finds hope in chronicling the artist led fight for better models pointing toward what must be done collectively to revalue music and create sustainable systems A timely exploration of a company that has become synonymous with music Mood Machine will change the way you think about and listen to music An American Bias in a Local Music Streaming Market? François Moreau, Marianne Lumeau, Patrik Wikstrom, Ola Haampland, Rune

Johannessen, 2023 In cultural industries the fear of large country hegemon has been revived with the growth of subscription services such as Netflix Spotify or Apple Music and the concentration of these markets The aim of this paper is to provide evidence on this issue from music streaming consumption Using a unique dataset that encompasses both streaming and download consumption in France a dynamic local music market representative of the global evolution our results are as follows At the top end we find no difference between streaming and download consumption based on the recording artist's geographical origin Outside the top of the distribution however we observe that the US market share increases in the streaming model to the detriment of local French music This advantage is even stronger for the US back catalogue i.e. songs released at least ten years ago the market share of a US song from the back catalogue is 26% higher when listened to on a streaming platform compared to when purchased as a download These results are economically significant as non chart and back catalogue songs cumulate a significant market share From a second dataset of all the streams from a sample of French subscribers to a European music streaming platform we show that the implementation of algorithmic recommendations by streaming platforms to guide users contributes to explain the dominance of US back catalogue Altogether these results document that streaming platforms introduce an American bias in music consumption
