C. Muelbert,2024-12-24 National and international agencies need assessments of change in ecosystems and their drivers in order to sustain natural systems to maintain the delivery of services and to meet the challenge for conserving Earth ecosystems in the long term In marine systems change may arise directly from human activities e g fisheries indirectly from local or global activities cascading effects through food webs from fisheries or changing environments from climate change and or ocean acidification or from naturally varying processes A particular challenge for managers is to identify how dangerous future climate change will be for ecosystems and their services and whether mitigation or adaptation may be needed in advance in order to achieve the conservation requirements For regions of international attention particularly those that have the attention of many management or policy oriented bodies a standardized process is needed to harmonize the scientific information on the status and trends in ecosystems used by the different bodies That process also needs to ensure the information is available in a timely manner For example assessments of change in habitats species and or food webs in the Southern Ocean are currently compiled separately for at least ten different international organizations or processes A Marine Ecosystem Assessment for the Southern Ocean MEASO aims to harmonize that information for policy makers This assessment began with an international conference in April 2018 <http://www.measo2018.aq> where it was agreed to undertake the first MEASO over 2018 2019 with the view to provide the outcomes to relevant bodies such as the Scientific Committee for the Conservation of Antarctic Marine Living Resources soon after The Undersea Challenge World Confederation of Underwater Activities,1963 The Ocean Sunfishes Tierney M.  McKeever,2019-06-25 What we can learn from sharks evolutionary marvels that have survived for 450 million years and are essential to our planet s ecosystem We re conditioned to see sharks as terrifying cold blooded underwater predators But as Ocean Guardian founder William McKeever reveals we need to ensure that their remarkable longevity continues The first book to reveal in full the hidden lives of sharks Emperors of the Deep focuses on four species Mako Tiger Hammerhead and Great White as never before including such fascinating details as Sharks are 50 million years older than trees Sharks have survived five extinction level events including the one that killed off the dinosaurs Sharks have electroreception a sixth sense that lets them pick up on electric fields generated by living things Sharks can dive 4 000 feet below the surface Sharks account for only six human fatalities per year while humans kill 100 million sharks per year McKeever goes back through time to probe the shark s prehistoric secrets and how it has become the world s most feared and most misunderstood predator and takes us on a pulse pounding tour around the world and deep under the surface from the frigid waters of the Arctic Circle to the coral reefs of the tropical Central Pacific He also interviews ecologists conservationists and world renowned shark experts including the founders of Greenpeace s Rainbow Warrior the head of the Massachusetts Shark Research Program and the self professed last great shark hunter At once a deep dive into the misunderstood world of sharks and an urgent call to protect them Emperors of the Deep celebrates this wild species that hold the key to unlocking the mysteries of the ocean if we can prevent their extinction from climate change and human hunters Many astonishing facts The Guardian An extraordinary book that rarely fails to inform and delight The Washington Times Includes photographs
