Evolvable Systems: From Biology to Hardware Andy M. Tyrrell, Pauline C. Haddow, Jim Torresen, 2007-10-08 The idea of evolving machines whose origins can be traced to the cybernetics movement of the 1940s and 1950s has recently resurged in the form of the nascent field of bio inspired systems and evolvable hardware The inaugural workshop Towards Evolvable Hardware took place in Lausanne in October 1995 followed by the First International Conference on Evolvable Systems From Biology to Hardware ICES held in Tsukuba Japan in October 1996 The second ICES conference was held in Lausanne in September 1998 with the third and fourth being held in Edinburgh April 2000 and Tokyo October 2001 respectively This has become the leading conference in the field of evolvable systems and the 2003 conference promised to be at least as good as if not better than the four that preceded it The fifth international conference was built on the success of its predecessors aiming at presenting the latest developments in the field In addition it brought together researchers who use biologically inspired concepts to implement real systems in artificial intelligence artificial life robotics VLSI design and related domains We would say that this fifth conference followed on from the previous four in that it consisted of a number of high quality interesting thought provoking papers

Three Black Generations at the Crossroads Lois Benjamin, 2007-12-07 The 20th century marked by dramatic socioeconomic cultural and technological changes greatly altered the value systems of many Americans Three Black Generations at the Crossroads Community Culture and Consciousness looks at how these values shifted within the black community and asks the question Can African Americans successfully confront the challenges of the continuing color line in the 21st century Exploring generational differences in the black community this second edition contains new chapters on politicians and artists two

Aphasiology Patrick Doyle, 2002-05-02 The First Annual Clinical Aphasiology Conference CAC was convened in Albuquerque in 1971 It was attended by a small group of primarily practicing clinicians dedicated to meeting the human service needs of their clients while recognizing the importance of contributing to the collective knowledge base of their discipline by providing empirical evidence supporting the links between their clinical interventions and outcomes Thirteen years later Barlow Hays and Nelson 1984 would describe in their now seminal publication The Scientist Practitioner an integrated model of applied behavioral research its strategies and methods and the role of the practitioner in the acquisition of knowledge directed toward improving clinical procedures and outcomes By this time 13 Volumes of CAC publications had already been published and comprised the single largest source of applied clinical data addressing the nature of aphasia and its clinical management These documents represented the product of the scientist practitioner model in action prior to its formalization by Barlow et al and provide a rich source of evidence supporting the efficacy of aphasia rehabilitation Unfortunately these and subsequent CAC publications remain unavailable to the larger clinical and scientific community due to their limited distribution Much has changed in the ensuing years Indeed many of the healthcare delivery systems in which aphasia rehabilitation is now practiced in 2002 severely restrict the frequency and duration of clinical services Increasingly practitioners are required to be more accountable for their clinical outcomes and to measure behavioral change in units that represent meaningful differences to consumers Now more than ever it is critical that the scientist practitioner model be promoted in order to better serve individuals with aphasia and to further advance the collective knowledge and evidence base of the discipline Now more than ever the available evidence needs to be disseminated as broadly as possible These goals are in keeping with the mission of CAC as envisioned by its founding members and remain the focused commitment of its many participants steering committee and publication board In keeping with these goals the papers that appear in this special edition of Aphasiology were selected based upon their theoretical importance clinical relevance and scientific merit from among the many platform and poster presentations comprising the 31st Annual Clinical Aphasiology Conference held in Santa Fe New Mexico in 2001 Each paper was peer reviewed by the Editorial Consultants and Associate Editors acknowledged herein consistent with the standards of Aphasiology and the rigours of merit review that represent this indexed archival journal that is accessible to clinicians and scientists all over the world
