Stephen M. Wheeler, Timothy Beatley

The Transit Metropolis A Global Inquiry:

The Transit Metropolis Robert Cervero, 1998-10 The author has spent more than three years studying cities around the world and he makes a compelling case that metropolitan areas of any size and with any growth pattern from highly compact to widely dispersed can develop successful mass transit systems BOOK JACKET The Sustainable Urban Development Reader Stephen M. Wheeler, Timothy Beatley, 2004 Bringing together classic readings from a wide variety of sources this key book investigates how our cities and towns can become more sustainable Thirty eight selections span issues such as land use planning urban design transportation ecological restoration economic development resource use and equity planning Section introductions outline the major themes whilst the editors introductions to the individual writings explain their interest and significance to wider debates Additional sections present twenty four case studies of real world sustainable urban planning examples sustainability planning exercises and further reading Providing background in theory practical application and vision in a clear accessible format The Sustainable Urban Development Reader is an essential resource for students professionals and indeed anyone interested in the future of urban environments Cities of the Global South Reader Faranak Miraftab, Neema Kudva, 2014-10-10 The Cities of the Global South Reader adopts a fresh and critical approach to the field of urbanization in the developing world The Reader incorporates both early and emerging debates about the diverse trajectories of urbanization processes in the context of the restructured global alignments in the last three decades Emphasizing the historical legacies of colonialism the Reader recognizes the entanglement of conditions and concepts often understood in binary relations first third worlds wealth poverty development underdevelopment and inclusion exclusion By asking whose city whose development the Reader rigorously highlights the fractures along lines of class race gender and other socially and spatially constructed hierarchies in global South cities The Reader's thematic structure where editorial introductions accompany selected texts examines the issues and concerns that urban dwellers planners and policy makers face in the contemporary world These include the urban economy housing basic services infrastructure the role of non state civil society based actors planned interventions and contestations the role of diaspora capital the looming problem of adapting to climate change and the increasing spectre of violence in a post 9 11 transnational world The Cities of the Global South Reader pulls together a diverse set of readings from scholars across the world some of which have been written specially for the volume to provide an essential resource for a broad interdisciplinary readership at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in urban geography urban sociology and urban planning as well as disciplines related to international and development studies Editorial commentaries that introduce the central issues for each theme summarize the state of the field and outline an associated bibliography They will be of particular value for lecturers students and researchers making the Cities of the Global South Reader a key text for those interested in understanding contemporary urbanization processes

Urban Mobilities in the Global South Tanu Priya Uteng, Karen Lucas, 2017-11-27 The book considers urban mobilities and immobilities in the Global South through an exploration of the theoretical and methodological entry points that can be used to further the agenda of transport planning Transport system improvements can and do have complex and unequal impacts on different sectors of society Conventional approaches to analysing travel demand and transport system performance developed in the Global North are typically ill equipped to identify and understand the complexities and inequities in urban areas of the Global South Using case studies from urban Africa and Asia the book addresses the need to understand the lived world of mobilities and use this knowledge to address issues that are central to our urban existence in the 21st century

Sustainable Urban Development Reader Stephen M. Wheeler, Timothy Beatley, 2014-10-03 Building on the success of its second edition the third edition of the Sustainable Urban Development Reader provides a generous selection of classic and contemporary readings giving a broad introduction to this topic It begins by tracing the roots of the sustainable development concept in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries before presenting readings on a number of dimensions of the sustainability concept Topics covered include land use and urban design transportation ecological planning and restoration energy and materials use economic development social and environmental justice and green architecture and building All sections have a concise editorial introduction that places the selection in context and suggests further reading Additional sections cover tools for sustainable development international sustainable development visions of sustainable community and case studies from around the world The book also includes educational exercises for individuals university classes or community groups and an extensive list of recommended readings The anthology remains unique in presenting a broad array of classic and contemporary readings in this field each with a concise introduction placing it within the context of this evolving discourse The Sustainable Urban Development Reader presents an authoritative overview of the field using original sources in a highly readable format for university classes in urban studies environmental studies the social sciences and related fields It also makes a wide range of sustainable urban planning related material available to the public in a clear and accessible way forming an indispensable resource for anyone interested in the future of urban environments Urban Transport and Land Use Planning: A Synthesis of Global Knowledge, 2022-02-12 Urban Transport and Land Use Planning A Synthesis of Global Knowledge Volume Nine in the Advances in Transport Policy and Planning series assesses practices and policies from around the world Chapters in this updated release include TOD and travel behavior research A bibliographical review Mass transit investments and land use in Latin America A review of recent developments and research findings TODness and its impacts on TOD performance Corridor and networked TODs Concept and planning support tools Rail centered accessibility Concept policy and practice Smart growth and travel behavior A synthesis Advances in integrated land use transport modeling and much more Other sections cover Residential self selection in the relationship between the built environment and travel behavior a literature review and research agenda Threshold and synergistic effects in land use travel research Parking requirements How land use policy acts as transport policy The shifting coalition for transportation land use policy reform and Compact urban development in Norway Spatial changes and underlying policies Provides the authority and expertise of leading contributors from an international board of authors Presents the latest release in the Advances in Transport Policy and Planning series Transportation Needs of Sacramento County Welfare Recipients Debbie A. Niemaier, Matt E. Sumpter, 2000 Where Do People Walk? Juliet Anne Lamont, 2001 A Very Public Solution Paul Mees, 2000 Why is public transport so poor in Australian cities Why can't it be more like the fast convenient systems in Europe Unlike Europeans most urban Australians live on far flung suburban blocks rather than in high density apartments Most urban travel is to widespread suburban locations rather than to the city centre It is often argued that fast efficient public transport is impossible in our dispersed cities In A Very Public Solution Paul Mees compares Melbourne's public transport system with the highly successful system in Toronto a dispersed city very like Melbourne with its suburban sprawl and sheds new light on a century old debate This debate is particularly important now as economic rationalists move to privatise public transport in Australian cities We can have European style public transport Mees argues if our different forms of public transport stop competing with each other and start competing with the car A Very Public Solution is the first serious work on public transport planning ever published in Australia It is essential reading for everyone concerned with urban sustainability and our growing traffic problems Urban Transportation Systems Sigurd Grava, 2002-09-30 Urban Transportation Systems is a complete guide to the types of transportation available to communities together with the technical tools needed to evaluate each for given circumstances Residential Relocation and Commuting Behavior in Shanghai, China Robert Cervero, 2008 Regional Development Dialogue, 2013 Institutional Barriers to Sustainable Urban Transport in Pakistan Muhammad Imran, 2010 This book examines why urban transport in Pakistan is managed only by improving existing roads and building modern road networks while totally neglecting non motorized and public transport for the heavily populated and dense Pakistani cities State of the World, 2007 The Challenge of Urban Mobility, 2000 Enhancing Residential Community in San Francisco's Mission District Ashish Vasant Karode, 2001 The International Faces of Urban Sprawl University of Waterloo. Department of Geography, 2006 Real Estate Development Mike E. Miles, Gayle Berens, Marc Allan Weiss, Urban Land Institute, 2000 Symposium, the Fair Housing Act After 40 Years, 2008 Urban Land Use Planning Philip Berke, 2006 Divided into three sections this edition of Urban Land Use Planning deftly balances an authoritative up to date discussion of current practices with a vision of what land use planning should become It explores the societal context of land use planning and proposes a model for understanding and reconciling the divergent priorities among competing stakeholders it explains how to build planning support systems to assess future conditions evaluate policy choices create visions and compare scenarios and it sets forth a methodology for creating plans that will influence future land use change Discussions new to the fifth edition include how to incorporate the three Es of sustainable development economy environment and equity into sustainable communities methods for including livability objectives and techniques the integration of transportation and land use the use of digital media in planning support systems and collective urban design based on analysis and public participation
