Transactions of the Clinical Society, Vol. 10 (Classic Reprint) ,2016-07-22 Excerpt from Transactions of the Clinical Society Vol 10 And this it is which must always be the great feature in our prospective work the attainment of that knowledge of therapeutics of which one of our Presidents told us as a trustworthy science we have only the expectation and of which he also said that he often wondered how vaguely how ignorantly how rash y drugs are often prescribed I am far from saying that the Society might not have done more with reference to the study of the action of drugs and yet our Transactions are not barren of laudable endeavours to obtain more knowledge of their in uence upon disease If it is a lesser function to discharge we have at least sifted the reputed powers of various medicines and have reported them as nu trustworthy and such inquiries have been illustrated by valuable experiences and have led to interesting discussions We may remember indeed that to this Society we owe the introduction of a discussion extending over several meetings and setting an example which has been elsewhere followed and if it has not been so here it is because it is in the nature of the ordinary work of the Society that the subjects brought forward at its meetings should be freely discussed and inte resting as have been many of our communications they have often been supplemented by most valuable comments from those who have spoken upon the subjects which they illus trate About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Transactions of the Clinical Society of London, 1868, Vol. 1 (Classic Reprint) Clinical Society of London,2016-12-23 Excerpt from Transactions of the Clinical Society of London 1868 Vol 1 About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Transactions of the Clinical Society, Vol. 12 (Classic Reprint) ,2018-03-21 Excerpt from Transactions of the Clinical Society Vol 12 It would manifestly be impossible to mention the many communications of this class in detail but I may perhaps without impropriety refer to a few of them as illustrations of the work that has been done I must however premise that I shall select them without any view to their compara tive excellence but solely because they relate to cases which possess some special pathological or practical interest At our second meeting held on January 24 1868 important communications were presented by Drs Hermann Weber Murchison and Burdon Sanderson upon Sudden Death in Rheumatic Fever with Excessive Temperature These cases were read here some months prior to the publication of our associate Dr Wilson Fox's very interesting monograph on the same subject and with the exception of three cases published in the Medical Times and Gazette by Dr Ringer in 1867 they were I believe the first brought before the profession in this country Several other cases of high temperature either in rheumatic fever or other diseases have been subsequently communicated to the Society by Drs Hermann Weber Southey and C T Williams and gave rise to very interesting discussions upon the use of cold baths in the treatment of hyperpyrexia About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
