Wages Of Violence Naming And Identity In Postcolonial Bombay:

Wages of Violence Thomas Blom Hansen,2018-06-05 When Bombay changed its name to Mumbai in 1995 it was the culmination of a long process that transformed India's primary symbol of modernity and cultural diversity into a site of intense ethnic conflict and violent nationalism. Wages of Violence is a startling account of how the city's atmosphere dominant public languages and power structures have changed since the 1960s. The book centers on how Shiv Sena a militant Hindu movement has advanced a new plebeian political culture and has undermined democratic rule in India's premier city. Drawing on a large body of archival material and conversations with people from all walks of life Thomas Blom Hansen paints a vivid picture of this dynamic and violent movement. Challenging conventional views of recent trends in Indian politics Hansen shows that the xenophobic public culture of today's Mumbai has deep roots in the region's history and its contested identities. We are also given revealing insights into the city's Muslim communities and the authorities understanding and control of the ethno religious subcultures in the city. Hansen argues cogently that Shiv Sena's success represents the violent possibilities of the vernacularization of democracy in India. Unfolding at a juncture where the globalization of India's economy is having a deepening impact on the lives of ordinary people this is a story that resonates with the directions urban growth is taking both elsewhere in India and beyond

The Archive of Loss

Maura Finkelstein,2019-03-21 Mumbai's textile industry is commonly but incorrectly understood to be an extinct relic of the past. In The Archive of Loss Maura Finkelstein examines what it means for textile mill workers who are assumed not to exist to live and work during a period of deindustrialization. Finkelstein shows how mills are ethnographic archives of the city where documents artifacts and stories exist in the buildings and in the bodies of workers. Workers' pain illnesses injuries and exhaustion narrate industrial decline the ways in which they live in tenements exist outside and resist the values expounded by modernity and the rumors and untruths they share about textile worker strikes and a mill fire help them make sense of the industry's survival. In outlining this archive's contents Finkelstein shows how mills which she conceptualizes as lively ruins become a lens through which to challenge reimagine and alter ways of thinking about the past present and future in Mumbai and beyond

Language, Identity, and Power in Modern India Riho Isaka,2021-10-28 This book is a historical study of modern Gujarat India addressing crucial questions of language identity and power. It examines the debates over language among the elite of this region during a period of significant social and political change in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Language debates closely reflect power relations among different sections of society such as those delineated by nation ethnicity region religion caste class and gender. They are intimately linked with the process in which individuals and groups of people try to define and project themselves in response to changing political economic and social environments. Based on rich historical sources including official records periodicals literary texts memoirs and private papers this book vividly shows the impact that colonialism nationalism and the process of nation building had on the ideas of language among different groups as well as how various ideas of language competed and negotiated with each other Language Identity and Power in Modern India Gujarat c 1850 1960 will be of particular interest to students and scholars working on South Asian history and to those interested in issues of language society and politics in different parts of the modern world The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Identity, Inequity and Inequality in India and China Ayo Wahlberg, 2017-07-05 This volume explores how difference is constructed manifested mobilised and obscured in socially uneven societies particularly those fuelled by neoliberal economic growth in the recent years The book approaches difference as a double edged concept that allows one to make sense of the tensions that are played out between cosmopolitan convergence and multicultural diversity between expanding middle classes and increasingly disenfranchised poor groups between the global and the local The chapters in this volume present a series of empirical explorations of how difference is articulated desired levelled governed and even subverted in the socio economically uneven landscapes of India and China They examine how difference emerges out of daily practice categorisation processes dividing practices nation building efforts and identity projects Through these empirical studies we see how difference is articulated along a number of axes differentiations of groups or persons according to hierarchies of superiority inferiority the demarcation of difference as something that is potentially disruptive and therefore in need of containment the celebration of difference as diversity and finally the ways in which difference comes to be internalised in the shaping of individual identities Another common theme that binds a number of contributions is the exploration of the role of the state in constructing and controlling these differences and the ways in which these interventions rearrange the social political landscapes This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

Media and Utopia Arvind Rajagopal, Anupama Rao, 2017-07-05 Collective political projects have become ephemeral and are subject to radical forms of erasure through cooptation division redefinition or intimidation in present times Media and Utopia responds to the resulting crisis of the social by investigating the links between mediation and political imagination This volume addresses those utopian spaces historically constituted through media and analyses the conditions that made them possible Individual essays deal with non Western histories of technopolitics through distinctive perspectives on how to conceive the relationship between social form everyday life and utopian possibility and by examining a range of media formats and genres from print sound and film to new media With contributions from major scholars in the field this book will be of interest to researchers and scholars of media studies culture studies sociology modern South Asian history and politics

Feeding the City Sara Roncaglia, 2013-07-15 Every day in Mumbai 5 000 dabbawalas literally translated as those who carry boxes distribute a staggering 200 000 home cooked lunchboxes to the city s workers and students Giving employment and status to thousands of largely illiterate villagers from Mumbai s hinterland this co operative has been in operation since the late nineteenth century It provides one of the most efficient delivery networks in the world only one lunch in six million goes astray Feeding the City is an ethnographic study of the fascinating inner workings of Mumbai's dabbawalas Cultural anthropologist Sara Roncaglia explains how they cater to the various dietary requirements of a diverse and increasingly global city where the preparation and consumption of food is pervaded with religious and cultural significance Developing the idea of gastrosemantics a language with which to discuss the broader implications of cooking and eating Roncaglia's study helps us to rethink our relationship to food at a local and global level
