Picturing Change Brenda Schmahmann,2013-04-01 An in depth look at the evolving ethos of curating and collecting art at South African universities In Picturing Change Brenda Schmahmann explores the implications of deploying the visual domain in the service of transformative agendas and unpacks the complexities contradictions and slippages involved in this process She shows that although most new commissions have been innovative some universities have acquired works with potentially traditionalist even backward looking implications While the motives behind removing inherited imagery may be underpinned by a desire to unsettle white privilege in some cases such actions can also serve to maintain the status quo This book is unique in exploring the transformative ethos evident in the curation of visual culture at South African universities It will be invaluable to readers interested in public art the politics of curating and collecting as well as to those involved in transforming tertiary and other public institutions into spaces that welcome diversity Since South Africa's transition to democracy many universities have acquired new works of art that convey messages about the advantages of cultural diversity and engage critically with histories of racial intolerance and conflict Given concerns about the influence of British imperialism or Afrikaner nationalism on aspects of their inherited visual culture most tertiary institutions are also seeking new ways to manage their existing art collections and to introduce memorials insignia or regalia which reflect the universities newfound values and aspirations Keesing's Contemporary Archives ,1963 The Economist Dictionary of Political Biography Jane Carroll,1991 African World Annual ,1964 Facts & Reports ,1983 Press cuttings on Angola Mozambique Guinea Bissau Portugal Southern Africa The Radicalism Handbook John Button,1995 Contains over 350 biographies of political activists suffragists pacifists campaigners for civil human and gay rights etc Southern Africa ,1963 Keesing's Record of World Events ,1988
