Homeland Security Technologies for the 21st Century Ryan K. Baggett, Chad S. Foster, Brian K.

Simpkins, 2017-04-17 A comprehensive textbook that overviews common technologies utilized within the homeland security enterprise with an emphasis on contemporary homeland security mission areas and end user applications. Designed for students entering or currently working in the safety, security, and emergency management disciplines in the public or private sectors, this textbook presents a broad array of homeland security technology types from the viewpoint of end user applications and homeland security mission areas. The authors investigate various theories behind the use of technologies and assess the importance of technologies for achieving goals and objectives. The content includes not only technical capabilities but also a blend of sample applications of technologies using an all-hazards framework and use cases at all levels of practice including both the public and private sectors. The authors provide an overview of preparedness applications, preventive and protective systems, and mitigation, response, and recovery technologies. Topics such as ethical and privacy concerns associated with implementing technologies and use of the Internet and social media receive special attention. In addition to readers directly involved in the security disciplines, this book will be useful for students in technical fields of study such as geographic information systems, GIS, computer science, or engineering who are seeking information on standards, theories, and foundations underlining homeland security technologies.

The Social Media Age Zoetanya Sujon, 2021-04-07 Exploring power and participation in a connected world. Social media are all around us. For many, they are the first things to look at upon waking and the last thing to do before sleeping. Integrated seamlessly into our private and public lives, they entertain, inform, connect, and sometimes disconnect us. They're more than just social, though. In addition to our experiences as everyday users, understanding social media also means asking questions about our society, our culture, and our economy. What we find is dense connections between platform infrastructures and our experience of the social, shaped by power-shifting patterns of participation and a widening ideology of connection. This book introduces and examines the full scope of social media. From the social to the technological, from the everyday to platform industries, from the personal to the political, it brings together the key concepts, theories, and research necessary for making sense of the meanings and consequences of social media, both hopefully and critically. Dr. Zoetanya Sujon is a Senior Lecturer and Programme Director for Communications and Media at London College of Communication, University of the Arts London.

Postfeminism,

Postrace and Digital Politics in Asian American Food Blogs Tisha Dejmanee, 2022-12-26 This book examines how Asian American women bloggers challenge dominant race and gender discourses through the practice of food blogging. Asian American food blogs which situate recipes and food photography within the personal narratives and domestic spaces of Asian American women offer unique insights into the ways that hegemonic race and gender discourses are negotiated in quotidian life. The genre's focus on food provides a particularly rich backdrop for this study as it necessarily implicates family histories.

gendered labour domestic spaces and the power dynamics of consumption. These intimate digital texts therefore provide unique insights into the ways that postfeminist and postrace discourses are encountered in the individual's mundane experiences. The author engages a critical cultural analysis of food blogs' narratives, images, communities, and platforms. Expressions of post race and feminism discourses are constrained by the commercial logics of this digital culture. The author argues that while Asian American food blogs rarely present a sustained challenge to hegemonic identity representation, the processes of reproduction and rupture that define this blogosphere consistently reveal the collective desire to push back against the limits of post identities. This is a unique and fascinating study which is ideal reading for students and scholars of gender studies, media studies, cultural studies, and sociology.

Big Tech Acquisitions and Merger Control Nils Stock, 2025-09-30. Big Tech Acquisitions and Merger Control Challenges Posed by Digital Platforms and Ecosystems. Nils Stock. Although legal analysis of merger related firm dominance in Big Tech has emphasised the so called GAFAM (Google, Amazon, Facebook, Apple, and Microsoft), this important book stresses the necessity for a much broader view. Numerous large tech platforms continue to seek dominance in and across various market segments by acquiring small start up companies with high competitive potential but yet little or no turnover, thereby running the risk of escaping antitrust scrutiny. This phenomenon is now often referred to as killer acquisitions and it raises problems with regard to both the jurisdictional and the substantive aspects of merger control which this book addresses comprehensively. Focusing on legislative initiatives and enforcement practice especially in the European Union and the United Kingdom and through an in depth analysis of the most prominent decisions concerning Big Tech acquisitions, the author spells out the nature of such relevant legal issues and strategies as the following: the economic principles of platform competition and the particularities of digital ecosystems, including their implications for merger control; an extensive comparison of different jurisdictional rules and notification requirements beyond standard turnover thresholds; how Big Tech acquisitions can be subjected to scrutiny in the European Union via referrals under Article 22 of the European Union Merger Regulation EUMR potentially in combination with national call in tools and/or Article 14 of the Digital Markets Act DMA and how the latter compares to the reporting requirement under the Digital Markets Competition and Consumers DMCC Act in the United Kingdom; market definition and market power assessments including but not limited to social media and advertising markets; how both traditional and novel theories of harm can be applied in the context of digital platforms and ecosystems; application of theories of harm relating to killer acquisitions and reverse killer acquisitions; the development of an ecosystem theory of harm and artificial intelligence as the new frontier; Policy proposals and the academic legal literature are taken into account with due regard to economic considerations as well. With competition authorities and legislators worldwide grappling to find an appropriate response to the expansion and consolidation of dominance in various digital markets, it appears necessary to contemplate alternatives to the current turnover based notification thresholds and to rethink the substantive assessment of Big Tech acquisitions. This
