body image concerns based on user's perception of ephemerality and permanency were examined. Instagram usage habits were examined as well for both story and post. An online survey was distributed through the University of Texas at Austin's advertising participant pool and linear regression was used through SPSS to find significant relationships. First results demonstrated no significant relationship between the perceived permanency of Instagram posts, social comparison, self esteem, and body image concerns as the content can be removed whenever the user desires. On the other hand, the perception of ephemerality on Instagram story negatively influenced social comparison and body image concerns while there was no significant relationship with self esteem. Overall, the result of the present study aligns with previous research as Instagram users who socially compare are likely to have lower self esteem and have higher body image concerns.
