Reasserting the Disney Brand in the Streaming Era

Robert Alan Brookey,Jason Phillips,Timothy Pollard,2023-04-07 Reasserting the Disney Brand in the Streaming Era investigates the evolution of the Disney brand at a pivotal moment the move from content creation to acquisition and streaming and how the company reasserted its brand in a changing marketplace Exploring how Disney s acquisition of Pixar Marvel Lucasfilm and Fox positioned the company to launch the Disney streaming service the chapters look at the history of those acquisitions and the deployment of the content brands and intellectual property from those acquisitions through an analysis of the original content that appeared on Disney Offering a focused investigation of how the content offered from these various media brands was adapted for Disney so that it reflects the Disney brand the authors illustrate through close textual analysis how this content reflects elements of the Classic Disney Style The analysis positions these texts in relation to their industrial contexts

while also identifying important touchstone texts both television and film in Disney's catalog. This comprehensive and thoughtful analysis will interest upper level students and scholars of media studies, political economy, Disney studies, media industries and new technology. E-commerce Kenneth C. Laudon, Carol Guercio Traver, 2007 In today's evolving business environment, E-commerce business technology society introduces students to the concepts and practice of electronic commerce. This book emphasizes the three major forces behind e-commerce: business fundamentals, technology opportunities, and social issues. In every chapter, these three themes come alive with the discussion of e-commerce concepts in the areas of economics, marketing, and information technology, and with the presentation of real world e-commerce business cases and stories. The result is a coherent framework for organizing a complex topic which promotes a clear understanding of how e-commerce is evolving. A scientific publication system needs to provide two basic services: access and evaluation. The traditional publication system restricts the access to papers by requiring payment and it restricts the evaluation of papers by relying on just 2-4 pre-publication peer reviews and by keeping the reviews secret. As a result, the current system suffers from a lack of quality and transparency of the peer review evaluation process and the only immediately available indication of a new paper's quality is the prestige of the journal it appeared in Open access is now widely accepted as desirable and is slowly beginning to become a reality. However the second essential element evaluation has received less attention. Open evaluation an ongoing post publication process of transparent peer review and rating of papers promises to address the problems of the current system. However it is unclear how exactly such a system should be designed. The evaluation system steers the attention of the scientific community and thus the very course of science. For better or worse the most visible papers determine the direction of each field and guide funding and public policy decisions. Evaluation therefore is at the heart of the entire endeavor of science. As the number of scientific publications explodes evaluation and selection will only gain importance. A grand challenge of our time therefore is to design the future system by which we evaluate papers and decide which ones deserve broad attention. So far scientists have left the design of the evaluation process to journals and publishing companies. However the steering mechanism of science should be designed by scientists. The cognitive computational and brain sciences are best prepared to take on this task which will involve social and psychological considerations software design and modeling of the network of scientific papers and their interrelationships. This Research Topic in Frontiers in Computational Neuroscience collects visions for a future system of open evaluation. Because critical arguments about the current system abound these papers will focus on constructive ideas and comprehensive designs for open evaluation systems. Design decisions include: Should the reviews and ratings be entirely transparent or should some aspects be kept secret? Should other information such as paper downloads be included in the evaluation? How can scientific objectivity be strengthened and political motivations weakened in the future system? Should the system include signed and authenticated reviews and ratings? Should the evaluation be an ongoing process such that promising papers are more deeply evaluated? How can we bring science and statistics to the evaluation process e.g. should rating averages come with error bars? How should the evaluative information about each paper e.g. peer ratings be combined to prioritize the literature? Should different individuals and organizations be able to define their own evaluation formulae e.g. weighting ratings according to different criteria? How can we efficiently transition toward the future system? Ideally the future system will derive its authority from a scientific literature on community based open evaluation. We hope that these papers will provide a starting point.
