The Family in English Children's

Literature Ann Alston, 2008-06-03 From the trials of families experiencing divorce as in Anne Fine's Madame Doubtfire to the childcare problems highlighted in Jacqueline Wilson's Tracy Beaker it might seem that the traditional family and the ideals that accompany it have long vanished However in The Family in English Children's Literature Ann Alston argues that this is far from the case She suggests that despite the tales of family woe portrayed in children's literature the desire for the happy contented nuclear family remains inherent within the ideological subtexts of children's literature Using 1818 as a starting point Alston investigates families in children's literature at their most intimate focusing on how they share their spaces their ideals of home and even on what they eat for dinner What emerges from Alston's study are not so much the contrasts that exist between periods but rather the startling similarities of the ideology of family intrinsic to children's literature The Family in English Children's Literature sheds light on who maintains control who behaves and how significant children's literature is in shaping our ideas about what makes a family good Changing English Primary Schools? Andrew Pollard, 1994 Picture Books Sans Frontieres Penni Cotton, 2000 This European picture book collection is intended to help teachers to widen children's horizons by bringing picture books from the European member states to British and European primary schools It describes each of the books selected discusses the signs and messages carried by the illustrations and text shows teachers how to help children read the selected texts through their pictures and shows teachers how the books can help children recognize the similarities in children's experiences throughout Europe The 19 books in the collection have a common theme friendship The universality of this theme enables children to engage with the books and empathize with the various characters witches animals and people of all ages School Library Journal, 1995 A World of Display Judith Makoff, Linda Duncan, 1990 This book presents 48 varied topics with an emphasis on artwork and display The Publishers Weekly, 2003 Waterstone's Guide to Books Waterstone & Co., Ltd, 1989 Story at Home and School Barrie Wade, 1984 American Bookseller, 1989 Whitaker's Books in Print, 1998 Journeys Into Literacy Moira McKenzie, 1986 Waterstone's Guide to Books Waterstone & Co, 1989 Never Too Young Jo Heaton, 1991
