State Arts Policy Trends And Future Prospects:

State Arts Policy Julia Lowell,2008 State arts agencies key players within the U S system of public support for the arts face growing economic political and demographic challenges to the roles and missions they adopted when founded in the mid 1960s This report the fourth and final in a multiyear study looks at state arts agencies efforts to rethink their roles and missions reflecting on what the changes may mean for the direction of state arts policy Drawing on readings discussions and analyses conducted for the study the author concludes that if current trends and strategies continue future state arts policy is likely to focus more on developing the creative economy improving arts education and encouraging a broader spectrum of state residents to participate in the arts To achieve these goals state arts agencies will likely become more involved in policy advocacy coalition building convening and gathering and disseminating information than in grantmaking The transition to this future poses some risks for the agencies and for the arts community but it also offers the opportunity to more effectively promote the conditions in which the arts can thrive State Arts Policy Julia F. Lowell,2008-11-17 This report the final in a series of four on state arts agencies looks at these agencies efforts to rethink their roles and missions reflecting on what the changes may mean for state arts policy and the structure of state arts funding The author offers a view of what the future may hold for state arts agencies and for state arts policy if current trends and strategies continue The Practice of Assessment in Music Education Frank Abrahams,2010

Sjoquist,2009-09-24 Atlanta s experience over the past 15 to 20 years is reflective of many cities particularly those in the south and west Thus the story of how and why Atlanta has changed is informative for cities in general What accounts for the positive turn around of the city of Atlanta What can other cities learn from Atlanta s experience This collection examines changes in the city of Atlanta over the past three decades and explores the factors associated with the observed changes Beginning with several essays that take a broad focus on the city s demographics and the city s economy the contributions then focus on more specifics aspects of urban development such as the changing face of retailing income and poverty race and ethnicity the arts transportation and housing and gentrification Later chapters assess the future prospects for the city Together the contributions paint a picture of how the city of Atlanta has changed why it has changed and its future prospects The implications for other major metropolitan centers are broad and the lessons learned are of relevance to anyone interested in the economic and social health of cities Science Abstracts ,1995 Papers from the Annual Conferences of the National Art Education Association, Public Policy and Art Administration Affiliate, 1988 Annual Conference, Los Angeles, CA, 1989 Annual Conference, Washington, D.C. ,1989 AAAS Annual Meeting Program American Association for the Advancement of Science. National Meeting,1985 Future Survey Annual ,1993 The Future of the Arts David B. Pankratz,Valerie B. Morris,1990 This volume presents the work of social scientists public policy analysts policy makers and arts funding decision makers The contributors seek to address serious issues confronting the future of the arts in America by defining the role of social science research in the formulation of public policies. The chapters reflect the diverse disciplinary perspectives and methodologies which make up the broad enterprise of arts research and cover a wide array of current issues in arts research and public policy including the current state of arts and arts education research arts participation by ethnic cultures baby boomers and older adults emerging patterns of aesthetic choice public arts policy in the future and conditions for the growth and effective use of arts research. Academics and students in political science policy analysis sociology economics arts administration and education policy makers and arts administrators will find The Future of the Arts a valuable resource. The contributors conclude that the future of the arts in America will be shaped by a wide array of forces. The challenge is in avoiding passive reactivity to these trends assessing their short term and long term influences and strategically developing policy options that are within the decision making control of leadership sectors in the complex arts policy world. Until recently the political context of public arts policy has hindered the development and utilization of arts research. In many ways this book illustrates the promise of research based policy formulation for the arts in America.
