Stellarium is an interactive planetarium program that allows you to explore the night sky from any location on earth, at any time of the year.

Stellarium can be used as an educational tool to learn about the night sky, as well as a tool for planning observations through a telescope. It is ideally suited as a resource for gaining an understanding of the celestial sphere, and the seasonal movement of astronomical objects across the sky.

The default installation (current version 0.10.5) contains over 600,000 stars as well as numerous deep sky catalogues and images. Stellarium is also expandable, with a many free plug-ins and educational resources available for download. In addition, Stellarium includes a basic scripting interface that allows custom simulations to be created by the user.

Stellarium is provided as an open-source project. Its source code is available and is freely modifiable and redistributable as per the GNU Public License.

Stellarium can be downloaded at www.stellarium.org.
