Study Guide & Review Worksheets

How Light Travels

Light travels in a straight line.

Reflection

Light is reflected when it bounces off an object.

Example: Light hitting a mirror.

Refraction

Refraction is the bending of light.

Example: A spoon appears to bend when placed in a glass of water.

Light Energy

Light transfers radiant energy. Energy from the sun is transferred to Earth by light. As the light is absorbed, it warms the Earth and assists in the process of photosynthesis.

Technology can be used to transform light energy into other forms of energy. For example, solar panels turn radiant or light energy into electrical energy.

The following

Light

Terms to Know

- Radiant Energy: Energy that travels in waves.
- Visible Light: Radiant energy that can be seen by the human eye.
- Frequency: The number of waves passing a given point in a given amount of time.

Transverse Waves

Light travels in waves called transverse waves. The highest part of a wave is called the crest and the lowest part of a wave is called the trough.

Light waves are described by their wavelengths. A wavelength is the distance between two points that follow each other. For example, the distance between one crest to the next crest OR the distance between one trough to the next trough.

Frequency & Energy

The greater the frequency, the greater the amount of energy.

Wave A has more energy than Wave B because Wave A has a greater frequency.

The colors of the visible spectrum are determined by wavelength. The colors are arranged from longest wavelength to shortest wavelength, but not the longest wavelength. Violet has the shortest wavelength.

The Visible Spectrum

Review

Date _____

The colors green, blue, and yellow. Put with the shortest wavelength to the energy being transformed into a should have a greater frequency than e has more energy and explain why appear flat when it is setting?

Gram,Philip G. Zimbardo,1997 Psychology Third Edition builds upon the experience and reputations of Phil Zimbardo and Ann Weber with the addition of a new co author Bob Johnson who has a wealth of teaching experience at the community college level This briefer less expensive book presents psychology in a meaningful manageable format that focuses on the key questions and core concepts of psychology Introductory psychology covers such a wide range of topics and issues that it becomes difficult for readers to see the forest for the trees To make key psychological concepts more meaningful the authors found inspiration in a classic chess study This study showed that experts did no better than novices at remembering the location of pieces on a chess board when they were placed randomly Only when the patterns represented actual game situations did they make sense and therefore become more easily memorable for the experts Clearly meaningful patterns are easier to remember and understand than random arrangements and Psychology applies this by presenting the field of psychology in meaningful patterns to enhance comprehension These concepts are then applied to readers own lives study skills and the world around them Finally Psychology integrates a cross cultural and multicultural perspective to make psychology meaningful for everyone For anyone interested in Introductory Psychology
