Soul Catcher Merle Ricklefs, 2018-07-31
Mangkunagara I (1726-95) was one of the most flamboyant figures of 18th century Java. A charismatic rebel from 1740 to 1757 and one of the foremost military commanders of his age, he won the loyalty of many followers. He was also a devout Muslim of the Mystic Synthesis style, a devotee of Javanese culture and a lover of beautiful women and Dutch gin. His enemies, the Surakarta court, his uncle, the rebel and later Sultan Mangkubumi of Yogyakarta and the Dutch East India Company, were unable to subdue him even when they united against him. In 1757 he settled as a semi-independent prince in Surakarta, pursuing his objective of as much independence as possible by means other than war, a frustrating time for a man who was a fighter to his fingertips. Professor Ricklefs here employs an extraordinary range of sources in Dutch and Javanese, among them Mangkunagara I's voluminous autobiographical account of his years at war, the earliest autobiography in Javanese so far known to bring this important figure to life. As he does so, our understanding of Java's devastating civil war of the mid 18th century is transformed and much light is shed on Islam and culture in Java.

Eyüp Sultan Symposia I - VIII Nancy F. Ozturk, 2005 Muslim Civilization M. Umer

Chapra, 2015-07-02
This is a subject of such relevance and importance that one wonders why nobody else dealt with it in book form before Dr. Wilfried Hofmann. Muslim civilization has experienced a decline during the last five centuries after previously having undergone a long period of prosperity and comprehensive development. This raises a number of questions such as what factors enable Muslims to become successful during the earlier centuries of Islam and what led them to their present weak position. Is Islam responsible for this decline or are there some other factors which come into play? M. Umer Chapra provides an authoritative diagnosis and prescription to reverse this decline. M. Umer Chapra is a research advisor at the Islamic Research and Training Institute of the Islamic Development Bank, Jeddah, and author of The Future of Economics and Islam and the Economic Challenge.

The Preaching of Islam Sir Thomas Walker Arnold, 1913
The Preaching of Islam A History of the Propagation of the Muslim Faith is an important early work by the British Orientalist and historian of Islamic art, Sir Thomas Walker Arnold (1864-1930). Arnold was born in Devonport, Devon, England, and graduated from Magdalene College, Cambridge. In 1888 he moved to British India where he taught philosophy at the Mohammedan Anglo-Oriental College, present-day Aligarh Muslim University. It was there that he began to form strong bonds with Indian Muslim reformists such as Sir Sayyid Ahmad Khan and Shibli Numani. Arnold had a long career in teaching which took him to Government College, Lahore, and then back to England where he became professor of Arabic and Islamic Studies at the University of London In 13 chapters the book traces the spread of the Muslim faith from Arabia westward into Christian Europe and eastward into Persia Central Asia India and beyond Later Muslim expansions into Africa the Balkans and the Malay Archipelago also are covered Following German Orientalist Max Müller's categorization of both Christianity and Islam as missionary religions Arnold contrasts the ways missionary work is carried out in Islam and Christianity He credits the absence of any priesthood and any ecclesiastical organization in Islam with the success of Muslim preachers Overall the book gives a nuanced explanation for the spread of Islam into former Christian territories pivoting away from the common argument about Muslim persecution of Christians to consider such factors such as economics tolerance politics and trade Arnold was also the author of Painting in Islam a classic on the subject Presented here is the revised and enlarged second edition 1913 of The Preaching of Islam a work first published in 1896 Jogjakarta Under Sultan Mangkubumi, 1749-1792 Merle Calvin Ricklefs, 1974 A Dictionary of Islam Thomas Patrick Hughes, 1885 Holy People of the World Phyllis G.
