

Introduction: In this lab you'll study seismograms from six different seismic stations recording the magnitude 9.0 Sumatra earthquake of December 26th, 2004. By comparing the arrival times of the P and S waves on each seismogram, you'll be able to determine the distance from the epicenter to each station. Once you know the distance to the epicenter from three stations you can pinpoint the epicenter using a process known as triangulation.

Procedure Part 1: Finding the Epicenter

1. Read the time of the P and S waves at each station and place that information in your data table below. Read each arrival time to the nearest second.
2. Determine the amount lag or lapse time between the arrival of the P and S waves at each station. Subtract the P-wave arrival time from the S-wave arrival time. Record your results in DATA TABLE 1.
3. Use the P and S wave travel-time curves (ESRT p.11) to find the distance from each station to the earthquake epicenter and record that distance in your data table.
4. On MAP #1, use the map scale and your safety compass to draw circles around each station of a radius equal to the epicenter distances that you just found using your reference tables.
5. Label the intersection of the 3 circles as the epicenter of the earthquake.

Data: Seismographs

Station #1: IC, LSA (Tibet, China) 29.7 N, 91.15 E

U.S. Tsunami Warning System and S. 50, "The Tsunami Preparedness Act of 2005" United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, 2005 Technical Report , 2006 Simple Solutions Patrick Kenji Takahashi, 2007-08-30 Simple Solutions For Planet Earth is a scientific book written in a popular style for the average reader You have read about Peak Oil and Global Climate Warming and complained about 4 gallon gasoline but how really serious are these headlines and annoyances The author has worked his entire career on the science technology education administration and politics of these subjects and crystallizes this complex field into understandable elements providing simple solutions for humanity Does it make sense for the renewable energy budget of the Federal Government to be about 1 billion year when o Annual tax incentives and government programs for the oil industry are supposedly in the range between 38 billion and 115 billion although Lester Brown says 210 billion in 2005 o Farm subsidies alone in 2004 cost taxpayers 16 2 billion o Our country spends 12 billion a month or 144 billion year on the Iraq and Afghanistan wars ostensibly to protect oil only to raise prices The author s long experience with the Greenhouse Effect has led him to believe that methane not carbon dioxide could well be the critical gas of concern for there is potential for global warming to cascade into what he terms the Venus Syndrome The closing chapter speculates on a hypothesis regarding mega tsunamis 100 meter waves from landslides While simple solutions are suggested the problem is the inability of our civilization to agree on a workable strategy which is further weakened by the lack of will on part of the general populace Thus the reader is urged to help make that crucial difference Instructions and examples are provided on how to attain Rainbow Vision to carry out this mission for a better Planet Earth The simplest solution is for everyone to join in on the effort Earth Lab Claudia Owen, Diane Pirie, Grenville Draper, 2006 Utilizing graphs and simple calculations this clearly written lab manual complements the study of earth science or physical geology Engaging activities are designed to help students develop data gathering skills e g mineral and rock identification and data analysis skills Students will learn how to understand aerial and satellite images to perceive the importance of stratigraphic columns geologic sections and seismic waves and more The Seismogenic Zone of Subduction Thrust Faults Timothy H. Dixon, J. Casey Moore, 2007 Subduction zones one of the three types of plate boundaries return Earth s surface to its deep interior Because subduction zones are gently inclined at shallow depths and depress Earth s temperature gradient they have the largest seismogenic area of any plate boundary Consequently subduction zones generate Earth s largest earthquakes and most destructive tsunamis As tragically demonstrated by the Sumatra earthquake and tsunami of December 2004 these events often impact densely populated coastal areas and cause large numbers of fatalities While scientists have a general understanding of the seismogenic zone many critical details remain obscure This volume attempts to answer such fundamental concerns as why some interplate subduction earthquakes are relatively modest in rupture length greater than 100 km while others such as the great M greater than 9 1960 Chile 1964

Alaska and 2004 Sumatra events rupture along 1000 km or more Contributors also address why certain subduction zones are fully locked accumulating elastic strain at essentially the full plate convergence rate while others appear to be only partially coupled or even freely slipping whether these locking patterns persist through the seismic cycle and what is the role of sediments and fluids on the incoming plate Nineteen papers written by experts in a variety of fields review the most current lab field and theoretical research on the origins and mechanics of subduction zone earthquakes and suggest further areas of exploration They consider the composition of incoming plates laboratory studies concerning sediment evolution during subduction and fault frictional properties seismic and geodetic studies and regional scale deformation The forces behind subduction zone earthquakes are of increasing environmental and societal importance Tsunami Information Sources
