Gates, Juan Gilbert, Chris Botanga, Kim Nguyen, Bonita London, 2022-10-17 The Louis Stokes Alliances for Minority

Participation LSAMP program of the US National Science Foundation has been a primary force for raising the success and graduation of minority students in STEM for 30 years Increasing the number of underrepresented students earning baccalaureate degrees and entering graduate school in STEM is the goal of LSAMP This goal has been nearly achieved through the formation of alliances of degree granting institutions of higher learning varying from community colleges to major research institutions Currently there are 59 alliances including more than 400 institutions LSAMP is responsible for more than 650 000 bachelor s degrees earned by minority students in STEM The papers for this Research Topic should focus on the use of LSAMP activities programs and collaborations to develop pathways to success and graduation of STEM majors from minority groups that underrepresented in STEM These pathways can include any segment from pre college through graduate school Areas of special interest include mentoring research experiences transitions between levels and novel approaches for retention The studies should be research based and rigorous They can be pure research studies curriculum and design or literature reviews but they must be at a cutting edge level and be subject to detailed review and assessment

Summer Bridge Programs. Policy

Brief Center for Comprehensive School Reform and Improvement, 2009 Across the nation school policymakers are grappling with what to do about the increasing numbers of students who do not advance beyond ninth grade National estimates put the student attrition rate before tenth grade at between 11 and 33 percent and only about 70 percent of ninth graders make it to graduation This policy brief focuses on one type of activity that is designed to help eighth grade students make a successful transition to high school eighth grade summer bridge programs These programs are similar in concept to their counterparts for aspiring college bound students who may benefit from extra support Students are identified and recruited into a summer program that offers academic remediation social support and orientation activities that are designed to enhance their ability to succeed during their freshman year As part of a comprehensive transition approach summer bridge programs can be a promising practice for school administrators and policymakers to consider Design and policy issues discussed include 1 Determining the student population 2 Creating the curriculum 3 Staffing the program 4 Instituting a code of conduct 5 Assessing the program and 6 Offering special incentives This document was produced by The Center for Comprehensive School Reform and Improvement administered by Learning Point Associates under contract with the Office of Elementary and Secondary Education of the U S Department of Education
