Cinemagritte Lucy Fischer, 2019-11-25 Examines the fascinating ties between Surrealist artist Ren Magritte and the cinema Cinemagritte Ren Magritte within the Frame of Film History Theory and Practice investigates the dynamic relationship between the Surrealist modernist artist Ren Magritte 1898 1967 and the cinema a topic largely ignored in the annals of film and art criticism Magritte once said that he used cinema as a trampoline for the imagination but here author Lucy Fischer reverses that process by using Magritte's work as a stimulus for an imaginative examination of film While Fischer considers direct influences of film on Magritte and Magritte on film she concentrates primarily on resonances of Magritte's work in international cinema both fiction and documentary mainstream and experimental These resonances exist for several reasons First Magritte was a lover of cinema and created works as homages to the medium such as Blue Cinema 1925 which immortalized his childhood movie theater Second Magritte's style though dependent on bizarre juxtapositions was characterized by surface realism which ties it to the nature of the photographic and cinematic image Third Magritte shares with film a focus on certain significant concepts the frame voyeurism illusionism the relation between word and image the face montage variable scale and flexible point of view Additionally the volume explores art documentaries concerning Magritte as well as the artist's whimsical amateur home movies made with his wife Georgette friends and Belgian Surrealist associates The monograph is richly illustrated with images of Magritte's oeuvre as well as film stills from such diverse works as The Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind Eyes Without a Face American Splendor The Blood of a Poet Zorns Lemma The Island of Dr Moreau The Draughtsman's Contract and many more Cinemagritte brings a novel and creative approach to the work of Magritte and both film and art criticism Students scholars and fans of art history and film will enjoy this thoughtful marriage of the two Screening European Heritage Paul Cooke, Rob Stone, 2016-09-01 This book provides a unique examination of the way Europe's past is represented on contemporary screens and what this says about contemporary cultural attitudes to history. How do historical dramas come to TV and cinema screens across Europe? How is this shaped by the policies and practices of cultural institutions, from media funding boards to tourist agencies and heritage sites? Who watches these productions and how are they consumed in cinemas on TV and online are just some of the questions this volume seeks to answer. From The Lives of Others to Game of Thrones, historical dramas are a particularly visible part of mainstream European film production, often generating major national debates on the role of the past in contemporary national identity construction.

ReFocus: The Films of Richard Linklater Timotheus Vermeulen, Kim Wilkins, 2022-11-25 Richard Linklater is a popular American filmmaker who is widely celebrated for the breadth of his oeuvre. Over the past three decades, Linklater has directed more than twenty features ranging from non-linear independent films to Hollywood genre entertainment. Despite the popularity of Linklater's rich and varied body of work and perhaps also because of this generic diversity, he remains under-represented in critical and scholarly fora. ReFocus: The Films of Richard Linklater addresses this oversight, bringing together twelve original essays attending to Linklater as a filmmaker whose work engages with contemporary debates in American politics, gender, youth, and activism, as well as significant concepts in film studies including time and duration, rhythm, and movement. Together, these essays form a dialogue on Linklater's ongoing role in contemporary American popular culture and the impact his work has on discussions within and beyond film studies.

The Routledge Companion to European Cinema Gábor Gergely, Susan Hayward, 2021-12-29 Presenting new and diverse scholarship, this wide-ranging collection of 43 original chapters asks what European cinema tells us about Europe. The book engages with European cinema that attends to questions of European colonial, racialized, and gendered power, seeks to decentre Europe itself, not merely its putative centres, and interrogate Europe's various conceptualizations from a variety of viewpoints. It explores the broad, complex, and heterogeneous communities produced in and by European films, taking in Kurdish Hollywood and Singapore cinema as comfortably as the cinema of Poland, Spanish colonial films, or the European gangster genre. Chapters cover numerous topics, including individual films, film movements, filmmakers, stars, scholarship, representations, and identities, audiences, production practices, genres, and more, all analysed in their contexts so as to construct an image of Europe as it emerges from Europe's film corpus. The Companion opens the study of European cinema to a broad readership and is ideal for students and scholars in film, European studies, queer studies, and cultural studies, as well as historians with an interest in audio-visual culture, nationalism, and transnationalism, and those
