Advances in Corpus-based Research on Academic Writing Ute Römer, Viviana Cortes, Eric Frigina, 2020-02-15 This volume showcases some of the latest research on academic writing by leading and up and coming corpus linguists. The studies included in the volume are based on a wide range of corpora spanning first and second language academic writing at different levels of writing expertise containing texts from a variety of academic disciplines and sub disciplines and of different academic registers. Particularly novel aspects of the collection are the inclusion of research that combines rhetorical moves with multi dimensional analysis studies that cover both fixed and variable phraseological items lexical bundles phrase frames constructions and work that is based on corpora of English as an academic lingua franca. Going beyond merely summarizing their findings the authors also discuss what their research means for academic writing practice and pedagogical settings. The volume will be of interest to researchers students and teachers who would like to expand their knowledge of how academic writing functions and what it looks like in a variety of contexts

Expertise in Second Language Writing Instruction Alan Hirvela, Diane D. Belcher, 2024-11-25 Despite growing interest in L2 writing teachers there is a dearth of published works that specifically delve into the nuances of the development of L2 writing teacher expertise. Informed by relevant foundational theory and empirical research this book addresses this crucial gap in the understanding of expertise in L2 writing instruction. This book offers a holistic analysis of L2 writing instruction serving as a valuable resource for those involved in the development of L2 writing teacher educators as well as novice teachers striving to hone their skills in teaching L2 writing. It draws from a wide array of international perspectives on the conceptualization of L2 writing teacher expertise and research in this domain. Significantly it is the first comprehensive work that places expertise in L2 writing instruction at the forefront. It will interest scholars in the disciplines of foreign and second language education as well as postgraduate students and aspiring teachers

University Writing in Central and Eastern Europe:

Tradition, Transition, and Innovation Mădălina Chitez, Claudia Ioana Doroholschi, Otto Kruse, Łukasz Salski, Dumitru Tucan, 2018-09-10 This book explores specific issues related to academic writing provision in the post communist countries in Eastern Central and Southern Europe. Although they have different cultures and writing traditions these countries share common features in what regards the development of higher education and research and encounter challenges different from Western European countries. Since academic writing as a discipline is relatively new in Eastern Europe but currently plays an essential part in the development of higher education and the process of European integration the volume aims to open discussion on academic writing in the region by addressing several issues such as the specific challenges in providing academic writing support at tertiary level in post communist countries the limitations and possibilities in implementing Western models of academic writing provision or the complex interactions between writing in national languages and writing in a second language Additionally the book presents several recent initiatives and possible models for providing academic writing support in universities in the area The important role of academic writing in English a common feature in post communist countries is reflected in the sections which focus on writing in English as a foreign language as well as on the impact of English upon national languages The volume will be of interest to academic writing researchers and teachers and those involved in teaching academic writing at the tertiary level LETS, 2015 The Routledge Handbook of Second
