Classicisms in the Black Atlantic Ian S. Moyer, Adam Lecznar, Heidi

Morse, 2020 Classicisms in the Black Atlantic explores how black authors and artists in the Atlantic world have shaped and reshaped the cultural legacies of classical antiquity from the aftermath of slavery up to the present day to represent black voices and experiences often revealing in the process effaced black presences in classical antiquity

Women Creating Classics

Emily Hauser, Helena Taylor, 2025-06-12 From Madeline Miller s The Song of Achilles 2011 to Pat Barker s The Voyage Home 2024 there has been a huge rise in women s rewritings of ancient myths and texts in recent years Women writers are looking back to the classical past more than ever before and there is serious public interest in women s reworkings of the ancient world But at the same time this is nothing new women have been responding to the worlds of Greece and Rome for hundreds of years across many different time periods and multiple cultures and languages This first volume in a two volume set explores the different ways that women have retold and responded to Classics across the ages as well as how these responses might resist or unpack the tensions inherent in notions of gender race canonicity class and cultural heritage in a context in which classical education and scholarship have been confined to the ivory tower studied by men in pursuit of an understanding of the great men of history Looking at extraordinary women writers across thousands of years from Sappho Marguerite de Navarre Lucrezia Marinella and Ren e Vivien to Tayari Jones Roz Kaveney Zadie Smith and Anne Carson from ancient Greece to the Venezuelan diaspora this volume demonstrates the urgency and the centrality of women s creations in the world of Classics

Dead and Alive Zadie Smith,2025-10-28 Named a Best Book of 2025 by The New Yorker TIME and Kirkus Reviews Smart somber There s pleasure in watching a novelist wired to see all sides at once wrangle with her own dynamic subjectivity The New York Times Book Review A profound and unparalleled literary voice Zadie Smith returns with a resounding collection of essays In this eagerly awaited new collection Zadie Smith brings her unique skills as an essayist to bear on a range of subjects that have captured her attention in recent years She takes an exhilaratingly close look at artists Toyin Ojih Odutola Kara Walker and Celia Paul She invites us along to the movies to see and to think about Tr and to New York to reflect on the spontaneous moments that connect us She takes us on a walk down Kilburn High Road in her beloved North West London and welcomes us to mourn with her the passing of writers Joan Didion Martin Amis Hilary Mantel Philip Roth and Toni Morrison She considers changes of government on both sides of the Atlantic and the meaning of the commons in all our lives Throughout this thrilling collection Zadie Smith shows us once again her unrivalled ability to think through critically and humanely some of the most urgent preoccupations and tendencies of our troubled times

Grand Union Zadie Smith,2019-10-08 Longlisted for the Carnegie Medal A dazzling collection of short fiction Zadie Smith has established herself as one of the most iconic critically respected and popular writers of her generation In her first short story collection she combines her power of observation and her inimitable voice to mine the fraught and complex experience of life in the modern world Interleaving eleven completely new and unpublished stories with some of her best loved pieces from The New Yorker and elsewhere Smith presents a dizzyingly rich and varied collection of fiction Moving exhilaratingly across genres and perspectives from the historic to the vividly current to the slyly dystopian Grand Union is a sharply alert and prescient collection about time and place identity and rebirth the persistent legacies that haunt our present selves and the uncanny futures that rush up to meet us Nothing is off limits and everything when captured by Smith s brilliant gaze feels fresh and relevant Perfectly paced and utterly original Grand Union highlights the wonders Zadie Smith can do

Like One of the Family Fiona Mills,2016-06-22 Kathryn Stockett s 2009 best selling novel The Help and its subsequent 2011 film center on the experiences of African American domestic workers living in Jackson Mississippi Stockett s sanitized portrayal of life in the Deep South where black women were charged with rearing white children while concurrently barred from sharing toilets and common eating areas with their employers simultaneously enthralled and disturbed readers and viewers alike Notably it is not the domestics themselves who render their tales but rather Eugenia

Phelan a white twenty something Mississippian with whom they hesitantly collaborate who ultimately voices their stories of life during the harrowing early days of the Civil Rights movement in the Deep South. Essentially these stories are articulated through the voice of a white woman a fact that becomes even more complex when one acknowledges that this fictional tale of the inner life of black maids working in Jackson Mississippi one of the most notorious states in regards to racial atrocities suffered during the mid twentieth century is rendered through the words of a white southern writer. Despite the book's positive public reception its sentimental portrait of the lives of African American domestic workers is troubling due to its heavy handed use of dialect and feel good message about the admirable interventions of a white protagonist intent on alleviating some suffering while glossing over the vicious attacks on African Americans during the Civil Rights era. The issue of visibility/invisibility is central in this text. At its most basic level the text itself has lacked traditional critical visibility as currently there has been a dearth of academic books focusing on this specific novel although the novel and subsequent film received much attention in national newspapers and magazines as well as significant critical debate in a wide variety of online venues. This collection considers why such sterilized versions of America's complex racial history resonate so deeply in our contemporary timeframe. Essay topics range from examinations of the laboring black female body to the impact of domestic work on families both black and white to explorations of the connections between rhetoric/writing and race. Also included are several comparative pieces that draw connections between Stockett's work and that of 1940s cartoonist Jackie Ormes as well as filmic comparisons to Imitation of Life 1934 and 1959 and Black Girl 1966 by Senegalese filmmaker Ousmane Sembène. With a Preface by Trudier Harris and the inclusion of several essays previously published in Southern Quarterly and Southern Cultures this volume represents the first text dedicated solely to Stockett's wildly popular novel and its subsequent film adaptation.

Contemporary Novelists M. Hutton, 2012-09-19 Peter Childs offers accessible analyses of the work of twelve prominent contemporary British writers including Hanif Kureishi, Pat Barker, Zadie Smith and Jeanette Winterson. This expanded second edition has been revised and updated throughout and now also features a new chapter on the younger generation of novelists born in the 1970s. Changing My Mind Zadie Smith, 2009-11-12 These essays reflect a lively unselfconscious rigorous erudite and earnestly open mind that's busy refining its view of life/literature and a great deal in between. Los Angeles Times Split into five sections Reading, Being, Seeing, Feeling and Remembering. Changing My Mind finds Zadie Smith casting an acute eye over material both personal and cultural. This engaging collection of essays some published here for the first time reveals Smith as a passionate and precise essayist equally at home in the world of great books and bad movies, family and philosophy, British comedians and Italian divas. Whether writing on Katherine Hepburn, Kafka, Anna Magnani or Zora Neale Hurston she brings deft care to the art of criticism with a style both sympathetic and insightful. Changing My Mind is journalism at its most expansive, intelligent and funny a gift to readers and writers both.

s illustrious career as a dynamic experimental novelist of contemporary Black British writing The five new essays in Decoded written by innovative scholars in the fields of British literature and African Diasporic studies bring together the most original and current analysis of Smith s novels and literary criticism since the release of Smith s NW 2012 Decoded includes discussions of NW Swing Time The Embassy of Cambodia Grand Union Changing My Mind Feel Free and Intimations The essays delve into Smith s philosophy about the role and responsibility of the artist her ardent defense of the function of the novel in the digital age and the connection between writers and readers Also illuminated is Smith s growth as a writer her reconceptualization of racial identity and shifting literary techniques from hysterical realism to social realism Finally the book discusses Smith s role as a public intellectual and her evolution from an optimistic champion of multiculturalism to a subdued austere realist who has broadened her social critique from the local to the global arena "Dark Heart(s)".
