If the problem is not something you can fix, or seems urgent (such as an incident report, or a refund) you should always bring your manager or supervisor into the conversation. Your supervisor will have the ability to find a solution, as they have encountered things like this before.

Resources in Education, 1995-04 Reading Assessment Redesigned Judith A. Langer, 1995

Highlighting the important innovations embodied in the 1992 National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) Reading Report Card, this report provides information on how the NAEP's large scale reading assessment is evolving in response to changing perceptions of reading development and assessment procedures. Included in the report is an overview of the theoretical framework underlying the assessment, a description of and presentation of reading materials used in the assessment, a discussion of students' performance on constructed response questions, and a presentation of example questions. Major findings discussed in the report include: 1. At grades 4, 8, and 12, students' average performance was highest on multiple choice questions, somewhat lower on short constructed response questions, and lowest on extended response questions; 2. The advantage of female students over male students in reading achievement was more evident for the short constructed response questions than for multiple choice questions, and the most evident for extended response questions; and 3. When demonstrating comprehension of texts that they had selected from a compendium of seven short stories, eighth and twelfth graders demonstrated relative success in answering the constructed response questions. Also included in the report are results of students' performance in reading for different purposes. Finally, two special studies conducted in 1992 are highlighted in the report: a literary selection task and a comparison of oral and written responses to comprehension questions.
