To turn on your computer Para encender la computadora

Before starting your computer for the first time, do not connect any other hardware that has not originally come with your computer. When you do that, you will risk getting a static electric discharge, which will damage your computer. Connect your computer to a power source, a telephone jack and an AC outlet, following the instructions in this section.

Do not connect any hardware device that is not originally designed for the computer, unless the person who supplied the computer has given you permission. If you do connect a hardware device that is not originally designed for the computer, the computer may not work correctly. If the computer does not work correctly, contact the manufacturer or distributor.
