Williams, 2016-06-27 How do people evaluate in daily life This issue broaches this topic to better understand this dimension of being human to develop evaluation theory and to improve extraprofessional and professional evaluation practice As part of a larger study addressing these issues in the lives of many professional evaluators around the world case studies of seven early evaluation theorists and practitioners from North America were conducted This issue contains articles with stories of some of their evaluation life experiences told and interpreted by these individuals with commentary by an eighth evaluator Themes that cross the cases are proposed and responses by the individuals highlighted are shared in a final article This is the 150th issue in the New Directions for Evaluation series from Jossey Bass It is an official publication of the American Evaluation Association

International Perspectives on Evaluation Standards Craig Russon, Gabrielle Russon, 2005-02-11 Prior to 1995 there were fewer than half a dozen regional and national evaluation organizations around the world Today there are more than fifty attesting to a growing interest in the practice of program evaluation internationally Many of these new organizations have undertaken efforts to develop their own standards or to modify existing sets most typically the Program Evaluation Standards of the Joint Committee on Standards for Educational Evaluation for use in their own cultural context Following two introductory chapters one a conceptual overview and the second a history of the development and revisions of the Program Evaluation Standards this issue documents standards development efforts in three different settings Western Europe Africa and Australasia In addition because nongovernmental organizations and governments have entered the standard setting business other chapters describe standards development activities by the European Commission and CARE International The content points to the challenge of formalizing standards for program evaluation given cross cultural differences in values and to the continuing challenges related to implementing voluntary standards This is the 104th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Evaluation Online Assessment, Measurement, and Evaluation David D. Williams, Mary Hricko, Scott L. Howell, 2006 Online Assessment Measurement and Evaluation Emerging Practices provides a view of the possibilities and challenges facing online educators and evaluators in the 21st Century As technology evolves and online measurement and assessment follow Online Assessment Measurement and Evaluation Emerging Practices uses established evaluation principles to employ new tools in evaluation systems that support stakeholders clarify values and definitions of the evaluation methods encourage thought about important questions and refresh the readers memories of contexts and backgrounds This book also adheres to evaluation standards of feasibility propriety utility and accuracy in order to help participants realize that technical issues and methods are only worthwhile when they are in the service of helping people make thoughtful choices

Program Evaluation in a Complex Organizational System: Lessons from Cooperative Extension Marc T. Braverman, 2008 This issue of New Directions for Evaluation focuses on evaluation in complex organizations The themes that are examined the mainstreaming of evaluation within organizations the growth of evaluation capacity and the use of evaluation to promote organizational learning are relevant for evaluators who operate in environments marked by multiple organizational levels varied funding streams divergent purposes for evaluative information and numerous stakeholders and organizational partners The national Cooperative Extension System serves as a recurring case study that links the topics together Cooperative Extension is a system of institutions that includes every state s land grant universities the U S Department of Agriculture and local country governments The linkages across professional communities and distinct institutions create a highly complex environment presenting numerous challenges for evaluators working with community based programs Extension s experiences contribute to a rapidly evolving knowledge base about effective evaluation practice across a variety of organizational settings This is the 120th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly thematic journal New Directions for Evaluation an official publication of the American Evaluation Association The journal publishes empirical methodological and theoretical works on all aspects of evaluation Each issue is devoted to a single topic with contributions solicited organized reviewed and edited by a guest editor or editors Issues may take any of several forms such as a series of related chapters a debate or a long article followed by brief critical commentaries Theorists' Models in Action Marvin Alkin, 2005-08-11 This volume analyzes how evaluation theorists apply their approach in practice A scenario of a situation at an elementary school is presented to four prominent theorists who describe how they would design and conduct an evaluation of the school s program The editors consider the theorists proposed evaluations as well as their subsequent comments to develop themes related to the influence of theory and context on practice They also provide a comparative analysis of the theorists evaluation approaches in relation to the context of evaluation case presented Evaluation theorists seem to be quite good at propounding on how they think the evaluation world ought to work Yet do we really know that what theorists say they would do in practice is indeed what they would actually do Evaluation after all is situational Each context offers its own constituency set of values programmatic elements bureaucratic hurdles and other variables This volume demonstrates why evaluators need to adapt their point of view to a particular situation and provides much needed study and analysis on the way in which they make those adaptations This is the 106th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation Evaluation Roots Marvin C. Alkin, 2004-02-24 Concern for evaluation theoretical prescriptions emerged about 40 years ago giving it a history that is both recent enough to be part of the living experience of many of today's theorists and old enough to afford an opportunity for an analysis of how the field has evolved over time This book examines current evaluation theories and traces their evolution with the point of view that theories build upon theories and therefore evaluation theories are related to each other Initially all evaluation was derived from social science research methodology and accountability concerns The way in which these evaluation roots grew to form a tree helps to provide a better understanding of evaluation theory Thus the book uses an evaluation theory tree as its central metaphor The authors posit that evaluation theories can be classified by the extent to which they focus on methods uses or valuing these three approaches form the major limbs of the tree In addition to the authors overview which analyzes the evaluation theory tree and connections among theories the book contains essays by most of the leading evaluation theorists In these pieces the evaluators comment on their own development and give their views of their placement upon the tree Performance

Improvement Quarterly, 2008 Critical Issues in STEM Evaluation Douglas Huffman, Frances Lawrenz, 2006-03-31

This volume of New Directions for Evaluation focuses on evaluation of science technology engineering and mathematics STEM programs with special emphasis on evaluation of STEM education initiatives STEM evaluation has always been important given the issues facing public schools and the economic and social considerations of STEM fields But because these fields today face a variety of concerns this discussion of STEM evaluation is particularly timely Evaluation advances may contribute to STEM fields by helping programs address the challenges they face This volume presents multiple viewpoints and state of the art examples and methodological approaches in the hope that its chapters will contribute to the understanding of STEM evaluation STEM education STEM education evaluation and evaluation in general Overall this volume of New Directions for Evaluation may help not only to move the field to consider new methods and methodologies for engaging in evaluation but also to reconsider ideas of what it means to engage in scientific evaluation Higher Education
