The Scientific Papers Of James Clerk Maxwell Vol I:

The Scientific Letters and Papers of James Clerk Maxwell: Volume 1, 1846-1862 James Clerk Maxwell, 1990-10-26
This is a comprehensive edition of Maxwell's manuscript papers published virtually complete and largely for the first time. Maxwell's work was of central importance in establishing and developing the major themes of the physics of the nineteenth century: his theory of the electromagnetic field and the electromagnetic theory of light and his special place in the history of physics. His fecundity of imagination and the sophistication of his examination of the foundations of physics give particular interest and importance to his writings. Volume I (1846-1862) documents Maxwell's education and early scientific work and his major period of scientific innovation: his first formulation of field theory, the electromagnetic theory of light and the statistical theory of gases. Important letters and manuscript drafts illuminate this fundamental early work and the volume includes his letters to friends and family, general essays and lectures and juvenilia. The publication in 1890 of the two volume Scientific Papers of James Clerk Maxwell edited by W. D. Niven was one of the two objects of a committee formed for the purpose of securing a fitting memorial of him, the other object being the commissioning of a marble bust for the Cavendish Laboratory. Before his death in 1879 at the age of 48, Clerk Maxwell had made major contributions to many areas of theoretical physics and mathematics, not least his discoveries in the fields of electromagnetism and of the kinetic theory of gases which have been regarded as laying the foundations of all modern physics. He is generally considered the third most important physicist of all time after Newton and Einstein. These collected shorter works, beginning with a paper written at the age of 15, show the wide range of Clerk Maxwell's interests across mathematics, physics and chemistry. The Scientific Papers of James Clerk Maxwell ... James Clerk Maxwell, 1890
