The Skin New York Review S Classics:

This Is a Classic Regina Galasso, 2023-01-26 This Is a Classic illuminates the overlooked networks that contribute to the making of literary classics through the voices of multiple translators without whom writers would have a difficult time reaching a global audience It presents the work of some of today's most accomplished literary translators who translate classics into English or who work closely with translation in the US context and magnifies translators knowledge skills creativity and relationships with the literary texts they translate the authors whose works they translate and the translations they make The volume presents translators expertise and insight on how classics get defined according to language pairs and contexts It advocates for careful attention to the role of translation and translators in reading choices and practices especially regarding literary classics The Classical Weekly, 1927 The Classical World, 1926 Animal Horror

Cinema Katarina Gregersdotter, Johan Höglund, Nicklas Hållén, 2016-02-22 This first full length scholarly study about animal horror cinema defines the popular subgenre and describes its origin and history in the West The chapters explore a variety of animal horror films from a number of different perspectives This is an indispensable study for students and scholars of cinema horror and animal studies Classic Pictorial of Screen and Stage, 1923 Digest, 1904 Destination Peking

Paul French, 2022-04-11 New York Times bestselling author Paul French Midnight in Peking returns to the Chinese capital to tell 18 true stories of fascinating people many Americans among them who visited the city in the first half of the 20th century From the ultra wealthy Woolworths heiress Barbara Hutton and her husband the Prince Mdivani to the poor American girl Mona Monteith who worked in the city as a prostitute from socialite Wallis Simpson and novelist JP Marquand who held court on the rooftop of the Grand Hotel de Pekin to Hollywood screenwriter Harry Hervey who sought inspiration walking atop the Tartar Wall from Edgar and Helen Foster Snow Peking's It couple of 1935 to Martha Sawyers who did so much to aid China against Japan in World War II Destination Peking brings a lost pre communist era back to life New York Review of the Telegraph and Telephone and Electrical Journal, 1904 The American-Scandinavian Review Henry Goddard Leach, 1916 Vol 14 no 5 May 1926 is special issue devoted to John Ericsson The American-Scandinavian review, 1916

Fate in Film Thomas M. Puhr, 2022-10-18 The course of events is predetermined and cannot be changed Forces beyond our control or even our comprehension shape our fates Such is the deterministic worldview embedded in a wide swath of contemporary cinema from arthouse experiments to popular genre films through both thematic concerns and narrative structures These films especially the recent spate of elevated science fiction and horror tap into this deep seated anxiety by focusing on characters who ultimately fail to transcend the patterns and structures that define them Thomas M Puhr identifies and analyzes the ways that cinema has dealt with the tension between fate and free will from Stanley Kubrick's The Shining to Christopher Nolan's Tenet He examines films that express deterministic ideas including circular narratives of stasis or confinement and fatalistic portraits of external forces dictating characters lives Puhr considers determinism at the levels of the individual the family and society reading films in which characters are trapped by past or alternate selves the burdens of family histories or oppressive social structures He explores how films such as Joel and Ethan Coen's Inside Llewyn Davis Ari Aster's Hereditary Jordan Peele's Us and Lucrecia Martel's Zama confront the limits of human agency Puhr relates deterministic themes to the nature of moviegoing In denying characters any ability to choose alternative paths these films mirror how viewers themselves can only sit and watch Recasting the works of some of today's most compelling directors Fate in Film is an innovative critical account of an unrecognized yet crucial aspect of contemporary cinema Southern
