Sound Advice L. B. Dunbar, 2014-06-02 Nana's Rules to Live By Gentlemen should always open the door for a lady I was busy and I didn't have time for a vacation let alone a weekend away When a frantic phone call from an old neighbor brought me to my grandmother's summer home I wasn't prepared for an extended stay And I especially wasn't prepared for the man holding the door open to the radio repair shop who made a lasting first impression In attempts at a relationship a gentleman should always make the first move Calling Jess Carter's clenched jaw and denim colored eyes part of his standoffish manner was an understatement His brooding exterior bordered on being downright rude From the moment I bumped into him quite literally our lives began to intertwine in a way that made me question what I wanted Children should be seen and not heard Jess had secrets and I was determined to get to the bottom of them Even he didn't know the solutions to all his problems I wanted to help In doing so I might have drawn too close to the truth forcing Jess to risk something he wasn't sure he could chance again I had decisions to make for myself and it's hard to know whose advice to take when so many questions remain unanswered

Sound Advice L. B. Dunbar, 2013-06-02 A gentleman should always open a door for a lady My Nana believed in manners Always I was even named after her idol Emily Post Nana's Rules to Live By were a solid set of guidelines I never questioned But when the brooding sexy man held the door for me I wasn't prepared for the lasting impression he would make on me A man should always make the first move Since the moment Jess Carter and I bumped into each other literally our lives entwined in a way I couldn't quite understand He was a complete contradiction of everything I ever planned for my future But the more I saw him learned about him the more I questioned everything I wanted His reserved personality kept him at a distance though and sitting back waiting for him to make that first move was difficult Children should be seen and not heard As a single father Jess daughter held the key to all of their secrets Suddenly all I wanted was to repair the damage the Carters had endured And I wanted to hear everything his daughter had to say As always my nana's sound advice on love and relations evolved in timeless ways when it came to helping two people who had so easily woven their way into my heart

Collected Works of Erasmus Desiderius

Erasmus, 2016-05-01 This sixth of seven volumes devoted to the Adages in the Collected Works of Erasmus completes the translation and annotation of the more than 4000 proverbs gathered and commented on by Erasmus in his Adagiorum Chiliades Thousands of Adages usually known more simply as the Adagia This volume s aim like that of the others is to provide a fully annotated accurate and readable English version of Erasmus commentaries on these Greek and Latin proverbs and to show how Erasmus continued to expand this work originally published in 1508 until his death in 1536 An indication of Erasmus unflagging interest in classical proverbs is that almost 500 of the 951 adages translated in this volume did not make their first appearance until the edition of 1533 Following in the tradition of meticulous scholarship for which the Collected Works of Erasmus is widely known the notes to this volume identify the classical sources and illustrate how the content of his commentaries on the adages often reflects Erasmus scholarly and editing interests in the classical authors at a particular time The work was highly acclaimed and circulated widely in Erasmus time serving as a conduit for transmitting classical proverbs into the vernacular languages in which many of the proverbs still survive to this day Volume 36 of the Collected Works of Erasmus series
