Want You to Know about Customer Reviews! Matthew "The Review WIZ",2025-12 Want more Google reviews QUIT ASKING Google search has changed It s no longer about your website it s about your GBP or Google Business Profile The only way Google knows you re a real business is from the human activity on that profile So what is human activity It s your customers leaving reviews and you the business owner responding to them In short reviews become like currency They re one of the most important factors to ranking your GBP Why Because reviews are real human activity on your profile and that is the strongest signal you can send to Google to tell them you re real and you are the authority in your market The problem with getting reviews is most gurus simply tell you to ask customers for their review Or they tell you about the best time to do that or they ve got some magic script they expect you to memorize The problem is asking for reviews doesn t work for a number of reasons To start when you ask for reviews it makes you look desperate begging for reviews Then customers don t know where to leave that review and worse than that they don t know what to say in the review On top of that business owners hate asking and they always claim they don t have time or they blame their staff that don t want to ask because they look like their begging customers Then have you ever considered the customer I promise you don t have a single customer that woke up this morning and said to themselves I can t wait to write a review for your business And if that s not bad enough most consumers don t know how to write a good review like a real review that s not one of those You re are the best The Reviews

Gone Wild TM Process eliminates all that and promises that you will start getting 100 s of Real Google Reviews in 72 hours or less and do it without ever asking another customer Best part is it will do it month after month and it never takes any time out of your day
