The Mississippi By Raft:

The Mississippi by Raft Richard Ankony, 2014-03-29 The first thing you will learn about the Mississippi River if you travel the length of it is that Tug Boats Rule These monsters that are pushing their massive loads in barges both rule the day and the night and take no prisoners For if someone tells you that they traveled the river and do not inform you of this then they have done you a grave disservice For either they hugged the shoreline the whole way so as to keep themselves out of harm's way or they didn't go at all If you intend to travel this majestic and mighty river by raft canoe or kayak then you must know this critical fact otherwise your life will be in imminent danger For those of us who went the distance in the sea lane or center of the channel learned quickly that tugboats are to the Mississippi River as great white sharks are to the oceans You must give them a wide berth and pay homage to them or you will pay the ultimate price The second thing you must be told about the Mississippi River is that the river is alive a living being but not Old Man River Yes she is a living being a woman a mother and a teacher who will embrace you with her love tenderness and beauty But as a teacher and a mother you must pay attention and listen to her advice for your survival depends on it or you will die The third thing you must be told is that the American people who live along the riverbanks of this great river have to be the kindest and sweetest people you will ever meet For from them they restored my faith renewed my dreams and from their simple humanity I was born again That said come join three Detroit city white boys who bought a 50 00 rubber raft and a small trolling outboard engine with a broken propeller to take on the mighty Mississippi We were clueless about waterways and rivers but a gentleman's bet pushed us to the limits and outside the envelope of what most people can only dream about During our journey we gained the respect of the rivermen and the twenty nine lockmasters that monitored us throughout our near 30 day adventure Come follow our true story as three young men with 150 00 each and a 50 00 rubber raft navigate the mighty Mississippi with all its dangers at eye level Follow us as we and four other teams of young men from across the nation who met a different fate than ours challenged the mighty Mississippi by canoe and small rafts Join us as we travel through the heartland of America with just gas station maps and a 10 dollar compass to point the way in this heart warming venture Experience the dangers that we encountered as we face broken dams breached levees flooding conditions snakes raging whirlpools and the dreaded four stackers that took the lives of our friends See how an old black man in the bayous saved our lives as if an angel like in the movie It's a Wonderful Life The Hollywood movie Deliverance is fictional and the actors play pretend but our names are real and our story is true so follow us as we travel at wave level 2 300 miles and 29 locks down the mighty Mississippi I Richard invite you to come join my friends Dave and Tonsabuns who lived the dream of the young at heart as I recall the greatest trip of my lifetime Lastly as an epitaph to the memory of my dear friends who have since disappeared and to those eight young men who perished who will rise again to the sure and certain resurrection to the life of the world to come when the Mississippi River shall give up her dead I Richard last man standing write this in remembrance of yous Now we are immortal

A Rafting on the Mississip' Charles Edward Russell, 1928 Pine logs were lashed together to form easily floatable rafts that traveled from Minnesota and Wisconsin down the Mississippi River to build the farms and towns of the virtually treeless lower Midwest These huge log rafts were steered down the river by steamboat pilots whose skill and intimate knowledge of the river's many hazards were legendary Charles Edward Russell a Pulitzer Prize winning author chronicles the history and river lore of lumber rafting Upper Mississippi River Rafting Steamboats Edward A. Mueller,1995 As a Wisconsin historical marker explains After 1837 the vast timber resources of northern Wisconsin were eagerly sought by settlers moving into the mid Mississippi valley By 1847 there were more than thirty saw mills on the Wisconsin Chippewa and St Croix river systems cutting largely Wisconsin white pine During long winter months logging crews felled and stacked logs on the frozen rivers Spring thaws flushed the logs down the streams toward the Mississippi River Here logs were caught sorted called and rated Between 1837 and 1901 more than forty million board feet of logs floated down the great River to saw mills The largest log raft on the Mississippi was assembled at Lynxville in 1896 It was 270 feet wide and 1550 feet long containing two and one fourth million board feet of lumber The largest lumber raft on the river originated on Lake St Croix in 1901 Somewhat smaller in size 270 feet wide and 1450 feet long it carried more lumber nine million board feet The last rafting of lumber on the Mississippi came in 1915 ending a rich exciting and colorful era in the history of Wisconsin and the Great River Edward A Mueller's extraordinary collection of over two hundred contemporary photographs and illustrations depicting the river rafting era are accompanied by short histories and anecdotes that preserve the story of the rafters the workboats that literally helped build a nation after the Civil War Rafting the Mississippi Leslie Wittman, Daniel Owen, Nicolaas Bergraaf, Jr.,2014-12-07 A memoir covering the 1972 construction of a 38 foot raft and the thousand mile explorations of thirteen young New Englanders between Paducah Kentucky on the Ohio River and New Orleans Louisiana on the Mississippi River The White River Raft Lewis B. Beidler,2018-02-02 The raft that carries Huck and Jim down the Mississippi River is often seen as a symbol of adventure and freedom but the physical specifics of the raft itself are rarely considered Peter Beidler shows that understanding the material world of Huckleberry Finn its limitations and possibilities is vital to truly understanding Mark Twain's novel He illustrates how experts on Twain's works have misinterpreted important aspects of the story due to their unfamiliarity with the various rivercraft that figure in the book Huck and Jim's little raft is not made of logs as it is often depicted in illustrations but of sawn planks and it was originally part of a much larger raft Beidler explains why this matters and describes the other rivercraft that appear in the book He gives what will almost certainly be the last word on the vexed question of whether the lengthy raft episode removed at the publisher's suggestion from the novel should be restored to its original place
