the greatest example of them all Stonehenge Drawing on forty years of research and fieldwork archaeologist Aubrey Burl offers a seminal new view of the changing cults and evolving architecture of Stonehenge Every aspect of Stonehenge is re considered in this groundbreaking volume Burl explains for the first time how the outlying Heel Stone long predates Stonehenge itself serving as a trackway marker in the prehistoric Harroway He uncovers new evidence that the Welsh bluestones were brought to Stonehenge by glaciation rather than by man And he reveals just how far the design of Stonehenge was influenced by Breton styles and by Breton cults of the dead Meticulously researched the book sets the record straight on the matter of Stonehenge s astronomical alignments Although the existence of a sightline to the midsummer sunrise is well known the alignment and the viewing position are critically different from popular belief And until now the existence of an earlier alignment to the moon and a later one to the midwinter sunset has been little appreciated One almost unexplained puzzle remains The site of Stonehenge lies at the heart of a vast six mile wide graveyard All around it are groups of earthen long barrows the burial places of Neolithic people many of whom died more than a thousand years before Stonehenge The mystery is that before Stonehenge there was a vacuum two miles across inside that cemetery Nothing was inside Why Burl points to an answer Antiquity Osbert Guy Stanhope Crawford, 1999 Includes section Reviews

Stonehenge Andy Worthington, 2004 Stonehenge has always been a gathering point for different aspects of counter culture never more so than during the summer solstice celebrations This book traces the history of the celebrations from the Druid revival of the 18th century to the modern rave culture and road protest movement of more modern times Material Engagements Neil Brodie, 2004 The subject matter of archaeology is the engagement of human beings now and in the past with both the natural world and the material world they have created All aspects of human activity are potentially relevant to archaeological research and conversely the ways in which others especially artists and anthropologists have investigated the world are of interest to archaeologists Archaeological artefacts and sites are also used by groups and nations to establish identity and for financial gain both through tourism and trade in antiquities Colin Renfrew has actively engaged with art with politics and with the antiquities trade and has presented his ideas to broad audiences through accessible books and television programmes as well as championing the cause of archaeology in many public roles The papers in this volume which have been written by colleagues and former students on the occasion of his retirement relate to all of these subject areas and together give some idea of the complexity of the issues raised by critical engagements with the material world both past and present
