The Medieval Nile

The Medieval Nile John P. Cooper,2014 This title presents a ground breaking view of the navigational landscape of the Nile in medieval Egypt by drawing on a broad range of sources medieval Arabic geographies traveller accounts archaeology and meterological hydrological and geological studies

The Medieval Nile John Peter Cooper,2008

Fustat on the Nile

Elinoar Bareket,1999 The book discusses Jewish leadership in Egypt and Palestine during the eleventh century The struggles for power between the leaders of the local communities and the traditional centers of Jewish authority all brought to light by documents from the Cairo Geniza

The Medieval Kingdoms of Nubia Derek A. Welsby,2002 Nubia had a rich pagan heritage stretching back thousands of years During probably the 6th century AD various factors led to the adoption of Christianity This book charts this huge cultural transition and its impact

Ritual Landscape and Performance Christina

Geisen,2019-11-15 Ritual Landscape and Performance contains the peer reviewed Egyptological contributions from the homonymous conference held at the Department of Near and Middle Eastern Civilizations of Yale University on September 23 24 2016

The various articles discuss the use of ritual landscape from the Old to the New Kingdom of Ancient Egypt by focusing on landscape archaeology of specific sites such as Saqqara el Bersheh Abydos Thebes as well as Aniba in Nubia Further contributions elucidate the interaction of desert and the Nile Valley through rock art the depictions of watery environments in the delta and their association to rituals as well as the habitation of landscapes using the example of southern Middle Egypt

Syene VI Gregory Williams,2022-12-31 In the 9th century CE the city of Aswan Egypt was a prosperous provincial capital on the pilgrimage route to Mecca and Medina via the Red Sea as well as trade routes connecting the Nile River to the Wadi al Allaqi mines Egypt s main source of gold The city was identified by medieval writers and geographers as situated at the frontier between Muslim Egypt and Christian Nubia Salvage excavations under the auspices of the Swiss Egyptian mission in Syene Old Aswan have revealed considerable evidence of medieval Islamic activity Evidence from 9th 10th century ceramic assemblages uncovered during these investigations is compared and contrasted with a variety of historical sources concerning this same period The evidence suggests that a particular style of common utilitarian ceramics produced in the Aswan region was utilized frequently and carried or exported extensively throughout Upper Egypt the Eastern Desert and Lower Nubia during the 9th 10th centuries and beyond The assemblages demonstrate a considerable distinction with the corpus of common ceramics of Fustat and Lower Egypt in the early Islamic period as well as those of contemporary Upper Nubia and sites further south along the Nile into Northeastern Africa Aswan and the First Cataract region came to function as a central node of a network marked by a regional material culture that transcended traditional political or religious divisions between Egypt and Nubia or Muslim and Christian The evidence from Aswan provides an alternative interpretation of medieval landscapes and regionalism one which prioritizes the material culture of daily life over the presumed divisions of political history or religious boundaries in Beijing,2023-01-05 The Damietta Crusade, 1217-1221 Laurence W. Marvin,2024-07-31 The Damietta Crusade which is often referred to as the Fifth Crusade was the first of the numbered crusades to be targeted against Egypt Rather than directly targeting Jerusalem its architects believed that by threatening the economic hub of Cairo the Ayyubid sultan would gladly give up Jerusalem in exchange Here Laurence Marvin offers the first book length treatment of the Damietta Crusade in almost 40 years Written in accessible language and driven by a narrative and analysis firmly grounded in the primary sources in multiple languages Marvin emphasizes what made this campaign unique from its planning choice of target brown water or amphibious nature course and result He presents a multi sided perspective by amply describing and analyzing the Egyptians and other groups in the eastern Mediterranean who played an important role in mounting a successful defense against Latin Christian forces Marvin contends that the crusade in Egypt failed not because it derived from an unachievable or flawed grand strategy but because of shifting operational goals leadership issues the social dynamics within the army arrivals and departures of participants and the effective defense led by Egypt s sultan al Kamil This detailed analysis of an understudied event of thirteenth century history brings the latest methodologies of military history to bear on a wide range of primary sources raising important questions about the complex nature of warfare and crusade in the medieval Mediterranean

Sailing from Polis to Empire: Ships in the Eastern Mediterranean during the Hellenistic Period

Emmanuel Nantet ,2020-07-22 What can the architecture of ancient ships tell us about their capacity to carry cargo or to navigate certain trade routes How do such insights inform our knowledge of the ancient economies that depended on maritime trade across the Mediterranean These and similar questions lie behind Sailing from Polis to Empire a fascinating insight into the practicalities of trading by boat in the ancient world Allying modern scientific knowledge with Hellenistic sources this interdisciplinary collection brings together experts in various fields of ship archaeology to shed new light on the role played by ships and sailing in the exchange networks of the Mediterranean Covering all parts of the Eastern Mediterranean these outstanding contributions delve into a broad array of data literary epigraphical papyrological iconographic and archaeological to understand the trade routes that connected the economies of individual cities and kingdoms Unique in its interdisciplinary approach and focus on the Hellenistic period this collection digs into the questions that others don t think to ask and comes up with sometimes surprising answers It will be of value to researchers in the fields of naval architecture Classical and Hellenistic history social history and ancient geography and to all those with an interest in the ancient world or the seafaring life

Some Medieval Theories about the Nile Osbert Guy Stanhope Crawford,1949

The Story of Africa and Its Explorers: The river of Egypt. The great lakes. Across the continent. The Congo Robert Brown,1893 Ancient Egyptian and Ancient Near Eastern Palaces Manfred Bietak,Silvia Prell,2018 This collection of studies on palaces in Ancient Egypt is the result of a conference organised by the Austrian Academy of Sciences the University of Wurzburg and the Egypt Exploration Society from 12th to 14th of June 2013 in London The result is a compilation of information archaeological and textual one can resort to in order to develop strategies to understand architectural and functional variations and recognise schemes of building canons for palaces in Ancient Egypt. In addition the understanding of Ancient Egyptian palaces is amplified with specialised studies regarding architectural and administrative terminology. The combined evidence shows that there was indeed a variability in function in architecture and in the physical situation of palaces in Ancient Egypt. Besides a common space program such as the succession of courtyard portico vestibule throne room and the intimate part of the palace one may observe a variability of the number of aisles or of columns present as well as in the thickness of walls. This fact points to hierarchical rules concerning the importance of the building. As the architecture is often preserved only in its foundations it is important to learn what kind of walls were load bearing what the size of division walls is and which kind of walls once carried columns. All these first observations have to undergo an evaluation process before one can think of discovering a building canon. A general introducing section is followed by contributions covering Ancient Egyptian palaces from Predynastic times until the New Kingdom. More contributions on the subject will follow in the second volume which will deal mainly with Ancient Near Eastern Palaces as outcome of a palace workshop at the 10th ICAANE held in 2016 in Vienna. Together these two volumes will contribute to a better understanding of the architectural canon and diversity of palaces in Ancient Egypt and the difference in concept to their Ancient Oriental counterparts.
