Teaching And Learning History Understanding The Past 11 18:

Teaching History 11-18 Husbands, Chris, Kitson, Alison, 2010-07-01 This book provides a comprehensive and radical guide to the challenges facing history and history teaching in contemporary schools Teaching History 11 - 18 Chris Husbands, Alison Kitson, 2010-07-16 Teaching History 11 18 is a comprehensive introduction to teaching learning and assessing history in secondary schools Drawing on cutting edge research and practice it draws together recent thinking in teaching and learning in history teaching and learning in secondary education more generally and classroom based research to provide a radical re thinking of the practices of teaching and learning about the past at the beginning of the twenty first century At the core of the book is a focus on diversity and its implications the diversity of classrooms in English schools cultural diversity and pluralism in accounts of the past and the diversity of pedagogic and communicative strategies at the disposal of teachers The book is realistic about the challenges a precarious place in the curriculum pupil disaffection bitter ideological debates about the purpose place and status of history but offers a forward looking rationale for the centrality of the past in debates about identity social cohesion and persona and social education The Guided Reader to Teaching and Learning History Richard Harris, Katharine Burn, Mary Woolley, 2013-10-15 The Guided Reader to Teaching and Learning History draws on extracts from the published work of some of the most influential history education writers representing a range of perspectives from leading classroom practitioners to academic researchers and highlighting key debates surrounding a central range of issues affecting secondary History teachers This book brings together key extracts from classic and contemporary writing and contextualises these in both theoretical and practical terms Each extract is accompanied by an introduction a summary of the key points and issues raised questions to promote discussion and suggestions for further reading to extend thinking Taking a thematic approach and including a short introduction to each theme the chapters include The purpose of history education Pupil perspectives on history education Assessment and progression in history Inclusion in history Diversity in history Teaching difficult issues Technology and history education Change and continuity Historical Interpretations Professional development for history teachers Aimed at trainee and newly qualified teachers including those working towards Masters level qualifications as well as existing teachers this accessible but critically provocative text is an essential resource for those that wish to deepen their understanding of History Education

Doing History Linda S. Levstik, Keith C. Barton, 2022-09-06 Now in its sixth edition Doing History offers a unique perspective on teaching and learning history in the elementary and middle grades Through case studies of teachers and students in diverse classrooms and from diverse backgrounds it shows children engaging in authentic historical investigations often in the context of an integrated social studies curriculum The book is grounded in the view that children can engage in valid forms of historical inquiry asking questions collecting and analyzing evidence examining the varied perspectives and experiences of people in the past and creating evidence based historical accounts and interpretations

Grounded in contemporary sociocultural theory and research the text features vignettes in each chapter showing communities of teachers and students doing history in environments rich in literature art writing and discussion The authors explain how these classrooms reflect contemporary principles of teaching and learning and thus the descriptions not only provide specific examples of successful activities but also place them in a context that allows teachers to adapt and apply them in a wide range of settings Doing History emphasizes diversity in two ways Readers encounter students from a variety of backgrounds and see how their diverse experiences can form the foundation for learning and they also see examples of how teachers can engage students with diverse experiences and perspectives in the past including those that led to conflict and oppression The book also discusses principles for working with English learners and newcomers and it provides guidance in using multiple forms of assessment to evaluate the specifically historical aspects of children s learning Updates to this edition include updated historical and instructional examples to ensure currency new suggestions for children s literature to support good teaching expanded attention to teaching about oppressed groups in history and greater attention to when historical perspective taking is and is not appropriate

MasterClass in History Education Christine Counsell, Katharine Burn, Arthur Chapman, 2016-10-06 MasterClass in History Education draws on international research and practice to present effective and engaging approaches for history teachers who want to explore the ways in which reading research and reflection can support the development of history teaching and learning in the classroom At the heart of the book is a series of professional enquiries carried out by experienced history teachers working in a range of contexts Each history teacher addresses clear questions arising from their practice and together they illustrate various approaches to data collection data analysis and argument These history teachers also show how they drew on diverse scholarship in history and history education including many publications by other history teachers In eight further chapters other experts ranging from practitioner scholars to researchers in diverse fields such as history history education teacher education teacher research and curriculum theory reflect on the distinctive insights that these teachers offer and explore connections with their own fields The combination of perspectives and the depth of knowledge of the varied contributors reveal the importance of different kinds of relationship between theory and practice The links between classroom realities and research and the critical use of different kinds of text will support history teachers in developing their practice and professional voice
