

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a dirt path that curves through a wooded area. The path is light brown and appears to be made of dry earth or gravel. On either side of the path, there are various trees and shrubs. Some trees have dark, gnarled trunks, while others are covered in vibrant green leaves. The lighting suggests a bright day, with sunlight filtering through the canopy. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.

Bandelier, 2015-07-13 Excerpt from The Delight Makers This story is the result of eight years spent in ethnological and archaeological study among the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico The first chapters were written more than six years ago at the Pueblo of Cochiti The greater part was composed in 1885 at Santa Fe after I had bestowed upon the Tehuas the same interest and attention I had previously paid to their neighbours the Queres I was prompted to perform the work by a conviction that however scientific works may tell the truth about the Indian they exercise always a limited influence upon the general public and to that public in our country as well as abroad the Indian has remained as good as unknown By clothing sober facts in the garb of romance I have hoped to make the Truth about the Pueblo Indians more accessible and perhaps more acceptable to the public in general The sober facts which I desire to convey may be divided into three classes geographical archaeological and archaeological The descriptions of the country and of its nature are real About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the
