The Deep Sleep Bison Book S:

The Huge Season Wright Morris, 2018-06 In this novel set in 1952 but intermingling the past and present the protagonist reviews the effects of the Jazz Age on himself and a friend recalling their exploits in college in Paris and in love The result is the picture of a generation

War Games Wright Morris, 2022-07-15 Written twenty years before it was first published in 1972 War Games features both black and charcoal gray humor whose characters and events are as unpredictable as they are absorbing a book in the author's words where the extremity of the bizarre is seen as the ultimate effort to change oneself if not the world At the center of the novel is the developing relationship between the protagonist a fifty three year old army colonel and a Viennese immigrant whom he first knows as Mrs Tabori and whose story he has learned through a dying amputee Human Kopfman Themes and characters that first appear in War Games reappear in The Field of Vision and Ceremony in Lone Tree In the preface to this edition Wright Morris describes the genesis of the book in 1951 and comments on its connections with his late work War Games may well prove to be the seedbed of much more in my fiction than I am aware since it was the first turning of earth more than twenty years buried My novels are linked in this manner but sometimes at odds with the chronology of publication In the absence of War Games many clues to the fiction that followed were missing This novel seems to me darkly somber a book of interiors dimly lighted streets hallways and lobbies with glimpses of objects and colors that emerge in subdued lighting I'd like to think that my readers both new and old will find the world of the Colonel and Mrs Tabori relevant to the one in which they are living

The Deep Sleep Wright Morris, 1953 The Deep Sleep opens in the early dawn in a town somewhere on the Main Line out of Philadelphia It is concerned with what happens through some twenty four hours in the household of The Judge who lies dead after a lingering and painful illness One of the honored and loved citizens of the town and of the metropolis this man has also been the focus of his household though perhaps not precisely in the manner which his fellow townsmen might think On this day the household is intent on preparations for the Judge's funeral As Wright Morris takes us into this house and into the town we come to know with fascinated insight the Judge's wife his daughter his artist son in law his mother a wonderful old hellion of ninety nine the handyman Parsons and a few of the neighbors from dust jacket

Cause for Wonder Wright Morris, 1978-01-01 When Warren Howe middle aged TV script writer receives an invitation to the funeral of Monsieur Dulac he attempts to round up all the people who were guests with him three decades ago in Riva Dulac's castle in the Austrian Alps Neither Uncle Fremont who invented the dust bowl nor an old college friend cares to reexperience the good old days But Sol Spiegel a junk collector who salvages the past is eager to return To escape a world firmly anchored in space and bound to clock time to reexperience the unbelievable they go back to Riva an imaginative creation fixed in neither time nor space but like its master both in and out of the world Saturday Review of Literature Wright Morris has an uncommon facility for constantly shifting from past to present without confusion or annoyance to the reader In Cause for Wonder the time shifts are faster than in The Field of Vision and all to good purpose They make of this novel a ghost story that needs no bed sheets and white paint props though a few are used Newsweek One of the most distinguished American authors Wright Morris 1910 1988 wrote thirty three books including The Field of Vision which won the National Book Award British Books in Print

,1985 A Life Wright Morris,2017-10 Floyd Warner eighty two has driven from California to his childhood home in Nebraska in his antique Maxwell coupe There he confronts the smoldering remains of this late sister s house and the realization that he is now completely alone As though in a trance he sets out once again this time to find his first adult home a dusty sheep farm in the southwest preparing to meet the fate that ultimately awaits him Of such deceptively simple ingredients is this brilliant portrait of the last hours of an old man s life composed Floyd Warner who first appeared in Fire Sermon is perhaps the ultimate characterization in the career of a writer who has been called quite simply the best novelist now writing in America John W Aldridge Books in Print ,1977 What a Way to Go Wright Morris,2022-09-22 The reader of this rollicking novel first published in 1962 accompanies forty seven year old Professor Arnold Soby regarded by his girl students as safe and acceptable but also good fun on a sabbatical voyage to Italy and Greece Among Soby s shipboard companions are Miss Winifred Throop retired head mistress of the Winnetka Country Day School her companion and colleague Miss Mathilde Kollwitz teacher of French and German and Miss Thropp s seventeen year old niece Cynthia Pomeroy beautiful scatterbrained and studiously vulgar Standing off the challenges of Italian and Swiss rivals Soby pursues Cynthia through the waterways and plazas of Venice the hills of Corfu the ruins of Athens and aboard the tiny rolling pitching tub Hephaistos in Greek waters As is characteristic of Wright Morris s fiction the real story develops beneath the surface of the brilliantly entertaining narrative The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books to 1975 British Library,1984

Fire Sermon Wright Morris,2017-04 A radiant expression of the art Wright Morris has developed through thirty years and fourteen earlier novels Although it is anything but preachy it will stick in the minds of the congregation for a long time On the one hand this is a novel of alienation and on the other a novel about the discovery of identity The author s overall concern is the destiny of man In this novel perhaps more clearly and movingly than ever before he carries the reader with him until astonishment awe compassion laughter and exultation mingle in a tragic sense of life Granville Hicks New York Times Book Review The ceremony of the old giving way to the new the young breaking away from what is old may well be the one constant in the ceaseless flux of American life Fire Sermon reenacts this ceremony in the entangled lives of three young people and one old man A chance meeting on the highway links a hippie couple to the eastward journey of an old man and a boy For the boy it is a daily drama testing and questioning his allegiance To which world does he belong To the familiar ties and affections of the old or the disturbing and alluring charms of the new One of the most distinguished American authors Wright Morris 1910 1988 wrote thirty three books including The Field of Vision which won the National Book Award

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2004    The Novels of Wright Morris Gail Bruce Crump, 1978 Spans the whole of Morris's career and explores the evolution of his writings noting his contrasting debts to D H Lawrence and Henry James

American Book Publishing Record, 1999    Wright Morris Roy K. Bird, 1985 Wright Morris imposes his imagination on the chaos of recollected experience creating a unified vision of reality from a threateningly indeterminate mass of raw material. This study examines how Morris transforms the commonplace the past and language in his fiction. A chapter on the commonplace bases its method on the Russian formalist concept of defamiliarization. A chapter on the past is a psychological exploration of Morris's fictional use of incidents from his early life. And a chapter on language is inspired by recent critical explorations of the relation between language and reality.    The Fork River Space Project Wright Morris, 1981
