Whats Wrong With Climate Politics And How To Fix It:

What's Wrong with Climate Politics and How to Fix It Paul G. Harris, 2013-07-11 Governments have failed to stem global emissions of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases causing climate change. Indeed climate changing pollution is increasing globally and will do so for decades to come without far more aggressive action. What explains this failure to effectively tackle one of the world's most serious problems? And what can we do about it? To answer these questions Paul G. Harris looks at climate politics as a doctor might look at a very sick patient. He performs urgent diagnoses and prescribes vital treatments to revive our ailing planet before it's too late. The book begins by diagnosing what's most wrong with climate politics, including the anachronistic international system which encourages nations to fight for their narrowly perceived interests and makes major cuts in greenhouse pollution extraordinarily difficult. The deadlock between the United States and China, which together produce over one third of global greenhouse gas pollution, but do little more than demand that the other act first and affluent lifestyles and overconsumption which are spreading rapidly from industrialized nations to the developing world. The book then prescribes several remedies for the failed politics of climate change, including a new kind of climate diplomacy with people at its center, national policies that put the common but differentiated responsibilities of individuals alongside those of nations, and a campaign for simultaneously enhancing human wellbeing and environmental sustainability. While these treatments are aspirational, they are not intended to be utopian. As Harris shows, they are genuine, workable solutions to what ails the politics of climate change today.

What's Wrong with the European Union and How to Fix It Simon Hix, 2008-04-07 The European Union seems incapable of undertaking economic reforms and defining its place in the world. Public apathy towards the EU is also increasing as citizens feel isolated from the institutions in Brussels and see no way to influence European level decisions. Taking a diagnosis and cure approach to the EU's difficulties, Simon Hix tackles these problems with distinct clarity and open mindedness. What the EU needs, Hix contends, is more open political competition. This would promote policy innovation, foster coalitions across the institutions, provide incentives for the media to cover developments in Brussels and enable citizens to identify who governs in the EU and to take sides in policy debates. The EU is ready for this new challenge. The institutional reforms since the 1980s have transformed the EU into a more competitive polity and political battles and coalitions are developing inside and between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission. This emerging politics should be more central to the Brussels policy process, with clearer coalitions and identifiable winners and losers at least in the short term. The risks are low because the EU has multiple checks and balances. Yet the potential benefits are high as more open politics could enable the EU to overcome policy gridlock, rebuild public support and reduce the democratic deficit. This indispensable book will be of great interest to students of the European politics, scholars, policy makers and anyone concerned with the future of the European Union.
