The New Deal

Reading Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions.

The Great Depression was a severe economic downturn that began in 1929 and lasted until the mid-1930s. It was the longest and deepest economic recession in the history of the United States.

The Federal Reserve raised the interest rate to combat inflation, which led to a sharp decline in the stock market. The economy then entered a period of deflation, with prices falling and unemployment rising.

During this time, many Americans lost their jobs and homes. The government took action to provide relief to the unemployed and to stimulate the economy.

The New Deal was a series of programs and policies that were implemented by the federal government to provide relief to the unemployed and to stimulate the economy.

The New Deal was a response to the economic crisis that had been caused by the Great Depression. It was a time when the government took action to provide relief to the unemployed and to stimulate the economy.
