The Way Home Max Lucado, 2005 A beloved princess adopted years ago as a foundling longs to travel beyond the castle walls where the Lowlanders are said to play all the day long

One Hand, Two Hands Max Lucado, 2010-09-12 A delightful way to show little ones how their hands are a blessing from God that they can use to do help others Written in rhyming text and illustrated with the charming art of Gaby Hansen this simple message of God's blessing of hands not only entertains as it teaches what wonderful things our hands can do from scratching latching and petting a pup to washing dishes with mommy and putting toys in a box but it also conveys the important message We can use God's gift of hands to show our love for Him by helping others The book ends tenderly with a prayer of thanks to God for hands and asks Him to use them again One hand two hands Five fingers ten God thanks for my hands Please use them again

The Long Way Home Kate Shayler, 2001 Australia's own Frank McCourt Sally Loane ABC Radio This is an important story that has long been neglected We are familiar with stories of the stolen generation and the British child migrants but there is a third group about whom very little has been written their white Australian contemporaries who as a result of family breakdown court orders or abandonment were institutionalised as children Kate Shayler pseudonym grew up a homes kid in the fifties and sixties Her memoir is more than just an account of her experience as an institutionalised white kid it's a heartbreaking story of what happens to a child in the absence of emotional support and affection Far from being a litany of despair Kate manages to weave into her journey of self discovery a sense of community camaraderie and humour of a childhood of sorts a family that she was forced to create for herself The Long Way Home The Story of a Homes Kid will strike a chord with anyone who has ever suffered discrimination insecurity or the pain of separation from family It's a timely and profound reminder that every child deserves to be cherished and valued

Cox,Cynthia Lightfoot,2013-05-13 The issue of how the external world becomes part of the behavioral repertoire of children has been important to psychology from its very beginning preoccupying theorists from Sigmund Freud to George Herbert Mead But

ever since Lev Vygotsky claimed that every function in a child's activity appears first as a process in the social realm between individuals and moves to a process that individual children can accomplish relatively independently there has been increased debate as to exactly how this process of internalization happens In contemporary developmental psychology the process of internalization has become so important that the time is ripe for a book which explicitly addresses the problems it poses Although the chapters in this book deal with age groups from preschool to adolescence and topics from mathematics to storytelling and from taking risks to making moral judgments there is one core question which unifies them all If the growing competence of a child is truly sociogenetic if it truly grows out from is supported by and is dependent upon the social where is that competence truly located Bearing a variety of labels cultural historical co constructionist dialectical contextualist narrative hermeneutic and discursive psychologies and analytic constructs scaffolding proleptic instruction participation appropriation and situated activity contemporary perspectives are showing clear signs of development and differentiation This volume's goal is to help bring some order to these differences without denying either the usefulness of this variety or the importance of the differences among perspectives This new book illuminates these differences by collecting a select sample of theory and research into one of two major sections The first section includes work undertaken from a social interactive perspective The overarching aim is to identify processes of child child or child adult interactions as they emerge over relatively short periods of time Typically the methodology involves the microanalysis of videotaped interactions Development is situated literally within social interactions which are considered directly responsible for children's development The second section provides a sample of work representing a symbolic action perspective This one is not oriented toward social interactions but toward the symbolic meanings that they express and that children impose on them The dominant methodology is interpretive or hermeneutic and the goal is to articulate the figurative metaphoric processes and narrative structures that inhabit social actions and from which they draw their meaning and coherence
