Third Language Learners Second Language Acquisition:

Cross-linguistic Influence in Third Language Acquisition Jasone Cenoz, Britta Hufeisen, Ulrike Jessner, 2001-01-01

Third language acquisition is a common phenomenon which presents some specific characteristics as compared to second language acquisition. This volume adopts a psycholinguistic approach in the study of cross linguistic influence in third language acquisition and focuses on the role of previously acquired languages and the conditions that determine their influence.

Third or Additional Language Acquisition Gessica De Angelis, 2007-08-09 Third or Additional Language Acquisition examines research on the acquisition of languages beyond the L2 within four main areas of inquiry: crosslinguistic influence, multilingual speech production models, the multilingual lexicon, and the impact of bi multilingualism on cognitive development. The book critically examines the evidence available, keeping two main questions in mind. The first is whether multilinguals should be considered as learners and speakers in their own right and consequently whether the distinction between Second Language Acquisition and Bilingualism and Third or Additional Language Acquisition and Multilingualism is fully warranted. The second is how proficient in a non native language learners are supposed to be before they can begin to be classified as multilingual learners in empirical research.

Third language acquisition Camilla Bardel, Laura Sánchez, 2020-11-19 This book deals with the phenomenon of third language L3 acquisition. As a research field, L3 acquisition is established as a branch of multilingualism that is concerned with how multilinguals learn additional languages and the role that their multilingual background plays in the process of language learning. The volume points out some current directions in this particular research area with a number of studies that reveal the complexity of multilingual language learning and its typical variation and dynamics. The eight studies gathered in the book represent a wide range of theoretical positions and offer empirical evidence from learners belonging to different age groups and with varying levels of proficiency in the target language as well as in other non native languages belonging to the learner's repertoire. Diverse linguistic phenomena and language combinations are viewed from a perspective where all previously acquired languages have a potential role to play in the process of learning a new language. In the six empirical studies, contexts of language learning in school or at university level constitute the main outlet for data collection. These studies involve several language backgrounds and language combinations and focus on various linguistic features. The specific target languages in the empirical studies are English, French, and Italian. The volume also includes two theoretical chapters. The first one conceptualizes and describes the different types of multilingual language learning investigated in the volume: i) third or additional language learning by learners who are bilinguals from an early age and ii) third or additional language learning by people who have previous experience of one or more non native languages learned after the critical period. In particular, issues related to the roles played by age and proficiency in multilingual acquisition are discussed. The other theoretical chapter conceptualizes the grammatical category of aspect, reviewing previous studies on second and third language acquisition of aspect Different models for L3 learning and their relevance and implications for representations of aspect and for potential differences in the processing of second and third language acquisition are also examined in this chapter As a whole the book presents current research into third or additional language learning by young learners or adults considering some of the most important factors for the complex process of multilingual language learning the age of onset of the additional language and that of previously acquired languages social and affective factors instruction language proficiency and literacy the typology of the background languages and the role they play in shaping syntax lexicon and other components of a L3 The idea for this book emanates from the symposium Multilingualism language proficiency and age organized by Camilla Bardel and Laura Sánchez at Stockholm University Department of Language Education in December 2016

Multilingualism and third language acquisition Jorge Pinto, Nélia Alexandre, 2021-02-12 The purpose of this book is to present recent studies in the field of multilingualism and L3 bringing together contributions from an international group of specialists from Austria Canada Germany Portugal Spain Switzerland Turkey and United States The main focuses of the articles are three language acquisition language learning and teaching A collection of theoretical and empirical articles from scholars of multilingualism and language acquisition makes the book a significant resource as the papers present a wide perspective from main theories to current issues reflecting new trends in the field The authors focus on the heterogeneity and complexity that characterize third language acquisition multilingual learning and teaching As the issues addressed in this book intersect it represents an asset and therefore the texts will be of great relevance for the scientific community Part I presents different topics of L3 acquisition such as syntax phonology working memory and selective attention and lexicon Part II comprises texts that show how the research on language acquisition informs pedagogical issues For instance the role of the knowledge of previous languages in the teaching of L3 the attitudes of multilingual teachers to plurilingual approaches and the benefits of crosslinguistic pedagogy versus classroom monolingual bias In sequence Part III consists of texts on individual learning strategies such as motivation and attitudes crosslinguistic awareness and students' perceptions about teachers plurilingual nonnativism All these chapters include several different languages in contact in an acquisition learning context Basque English French German Italian Latin Portuguese Russian Spanish and Turkish English in Europe

Jasone Cenoz, Ulrike Jessner, 2000-01-01 This book emerges as a response to the increasing use of English as a lingua franca in the multilingual European context It provides an up to date overview of the sociolinguistic psycholinguistic and educational aspects of research on third language acquisition by focusing on English as a third language Processes in Third Language Acquisition Bjorn Hammarberg, 2009-08-20 This volume brings together six case studies of an adult multilingual speaker who acquires a new language through social interaction The book deals especially with the multilingual situation the learner's acquisitional activities and the involvement of background languages in the process of speaking It offers a coherent study of various linguistic phenomena in one individual including patterns and functions of language switching word search in interaction hypothetical construction of words and articulatory settings in speaking The main languages involved are English L1 German L2 and Swedish L3 The activation of these languages in the learner's speech is examined in a cognitive perspective in relation to current models of the speaking process A longitudinal corpus of NNSNS conversations covering 21 months from the beginner stage provides the main data for these studies Key Features Presents an example of an active and purposeful language acquirer Explores cross linguistic influence in a multilingual setting Highlights the significance of prior L2 knowledge in L3 performance Useful for students and researchers interested in second and third language acquisition individual multilingualism and the human speaking process

Third Language Acquisition and Universal Grammar Yan-kit Ingrid Leung, 2009-01-01 This volume presents studies which approach the relatively new field of third language L3 acquisition from the generative linguistic perspective It aims to bring together researchers who are interested in L3 acquisition and who are at the same time working within the generative framework i.e. Chomsky's Universal Grammar UG approach to language acquisition A total of nine contributions are included reporting research on L3 involving different combinations of source target languages and investigating various UG related properties

Introducing Second Language Acquisition Muriel Saville-Troike, Karen Barto, 2017 Third edition of the leading interdisciplinary introduction to second language acquisition covering linguistic psychological and social aspects

Introducing Second Language Acquisition Muriel Saville-Troike, Karen Barto, 2016-12-15 Providing a solid foundation in second language acquisition this book has become the leading introduction to the subject for students of linguistics psychology and education and trainee language teachers Now in its third edition the textbook offers comprehensive coverage of fundamental concepts including second language acquisition SLA in adults and children in formal and informal learning contexts and in diverse socio cultural settings and takes an interdisciplinary approach encouraging students to consider SLA from linguistic psychological and social perspectives Each chapter contains a list of key terms a summary and a range of graded exercises suitable for self testing and class discussion The third edition has been revised throughout and features new material on the practical aspects of teaching language along with updated online resources including new classroom activities to accompany each chapter as well as updated references and further reading suggestions

Third Language Learners Maria Pilar Safont Jorda, 2005-04-06 The book focuses on one aspect of foreign language acquisition that has not received much attention that of the effect of bilingualism in the oral production of the English language learners Two research areas have tackled this issue separately On the one hand third language acquisition researchers have analysed bilingualism effects in the acquisition of a third language On the other hand studies in interlanguage pragmatics have taken into account variables affecting the use of request acts by second language learners of English The two research areas are connected in this volume as it deals with bilingualism effects in the pragmatic production and awareness of third language learners of English The first part of the book includes a theoretical description of research conducted in the areas of third language acquisition and interlanguage

pragmatics and the second part presents a detailed description of the empirical study carried out in a multilingual speech community

Third Language Acquisition in Adulthood Jennifer Cabrelli Amaro, Suzanne Flynn, Jason Rothman, 2012
Provides an overview of present trends in the study of adult additive multilingualism from formal psycholinguistic and sociolinguistic perspectives adding new insights into adult multilingual epistemology This book includes critical reviews of L3
Ln morphosyntax phonology and the lexicon

What are the Implications for Third Language Learners in the Second Language Classroom? Renée M. Hecker, 2006 This publication explores the implications for third language learners in the second language classroom Third language acquisition is different then second language acquisition and therefore the needs of third language learners are also different In order to address the needs of third language learners the author explores the complexity of trilingualism the role of metalinguistic awareness cross linguistic influence and interference and lexical awareness Through these elements of third language acquisition classroom implications are identified In order to meet the needs of third language learners in the second language classroom language teachers need to be aware of third language learners needs and adapt instruction accordingly

Leaf 4      Linguistic Awareness in Multilinguals Ulrike Jessner, 2006-03-15 This book discusses cognitive and psycholinguistic aspects of third language acquisition and trilingualism and explores the key role of linguistic awareness in multilingual proficiency and language learning In view of the widespread acquisition of English by those who are already bilingual or are also acquiring a regional lingua franca this study will contribute to the current discussion of multilingualism with English in Europe and beyond as well as the understanding of multilingual speech processing The author supports a dynamic view of multilingualism by stressing the cognitive advantages that the contact with more languages can offer and uses this approach as the basis for future language teaching and learning Chapters cover topics such as performing in a third language metalinguistic awareness in multilinguals and in multilingual education and English as a third language in Europe

Key Terms in Second Language Acquisition Bill VanPatten, Alessandro G. Benati, 2010-01-04 Key Terms in Second Language Acquisition includes definitions of key terms within second language acquisition and also provides accessible summaries of the key issues within this complex area of study The final section presents a list of key readings in second language acquisition that signposts the reader towards classic articles and also provides a springboard to further study The text is accessibly written with complicated terms and concepts explained in an easy to understand way Key Terms in Second Language Acquisition is an essential resource for students

,      Influence of Bilingualism on Third Language Acquisition Valeriya Tsybenova, 2017-10-30 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject English Pedagogy Didactics Literature Studies grade 1 0 University of Potsdam Anglistik Amerikanistik course English as a Foreign Language language English abstract The paper focuses on a particular aspect of third language acquisition the influence of bilingualism on third language acquisition There are a number of reasons why it is considered to be an important area of investigation First and foremost it represents an area that demonstrates clearly the differences between second and third language acquisition Third language learners have already acquired two other languages either simultaneously or consecutively as first or first and second languages Therefore the knowledge of these two languages and the experience of the acquisition process of another language are likely to influence the acquisition of a third language Research that compares second language acquisition to third language acquisition is central in third language acquisition studies because it can contribute to the identification of specific characteristics in the process of third language acquisition which are not present in the process of acquiring a second language In this context it should also be remembered that while there is extensive research on the effect of bilingualism on cognitive development and metalinguistic awareness the particular effect of bilingualism on subsequent language learning has not received much attention
