The Tree Of Meaning Thirteen Talks:

The Tree of Meaning Robert Bringhurst, 2006 The Tree of Meaning is a collection of thirteen lectures given by internationally renowned poet linguist and typographer Robert Bringhurst. Together these lectures present a superbly grounded approach to the study of language focusing on storytelling, mythology, comparative literature, humanity, and the breadth of oral culture. Bringhurst's commitment to what he calls ecological linguistics emerges in his studies of Native American art and storytelling, his understanding of poetry, and his championing of a more truly universal conception of what constitutes literature. The collection features a sustained focus on Haida culture, including the work of storytellers Skaay and Ghandl, and artist Bill Reid on the process of translation and on the relationship between beings and language. Spanning ten years of lecturing, The Tree of Meaning is remarkable not only for the cohesion of its author's own ideas but for the synthesis of such wide-ranging perspectives and examples of cultures both human and non-human. These thirteen lectures draw together a highly personalized and active study of Native American art and literature, world languages, philosophy, and natural history. To each subject Bringhurst brings an ecologically conscious humanitarian approach and an enthusiastic interest in the world around him. When the border guards ask I say I'm a writer, remarks Bringhurst. If they ask still more I'll say I write both poetry and prose. That's usually enough; they'll shake their heads and wave me on. I wouldn't attempt to tell them the truth, which is that writing is just a disguise. I do my work by talking to the air. Sooner or later the talk is disguised as writing and printing, because those are the simplest, least obtrusive ways of miming something spoken. For poetry at least, speaking also seems to me a better delivery method than writing. Doing readings pays better than publishing books of poems. It reaches a wider audience, too. It allows for nuances no typographer can match. And speaking is much older and more universal than writing. It seems to me a better venue, much of the time, for the evanescent, mutable, agelessness that is apt to distinguish a poem. So poems where I come from are spoken to be written and written to be spoken. The Tree of Meaning is a book of critical prose composed in the same way. The book has several themes: the nature of language, the nature of meaning, the destruction of the earth as we have known it, occurring side by side with the evident persistence of poetry and meaning. And the book has an agenda connected to these themes. That agenda is learning to read and understand a few significant examples of Native American oral literature, works preserved often by accident, often in damaged form, which have I think a lot to teach us all. In cultures that have writing, the usual way of capturing oral literature is to write it down and put it in a book. We've done that with the Iliad, the Odyssey, the Beowulf; we do it now with the works of Cree and Crow and Haida storytellers, phonetically transcribed in the past century and a half. It makes good sense to me that a book about oral literature should be spoken before it is written and written to be spoken, not just read.

Myth and Environmentalism Esther Sánchez-Pardo, María Porras Sánchez, 2023-07-05 This volume traces the interconnections between myth, environmentalism, narrative poetry, comics, and innovative artistic practice, using this as a framework through which to examine strategies for repairing our unhealthy relationship with the planet Challenging late capitalist modes encouraging mindless consumption and the degradation of human nature relations this collection advocates a re evaluation of the ethical relation to living with and sharing the Earth Myth and the environment have shared a rich common cultural history travelling as far back as the times of storytelling and legend with the environment often the central theme Following a robust introduction the book is organized into three main sections Myth Disaster and Present Day Views on Ecological Damage Indigenous and Afro diasporic Myths and Ecological Knowledge Art Practices Myth and Environmental Resilience and concludes with a Coda from Jeanette Hart Mann The methodology draws from diverse perspectives such as ecocriticism new materialism and Anthropocene studies offering a truly interdisciplinary discussion that reflects on the dialogue among environment and myth and a broad range of contributions are included from Canada the United States the Caribbean Ukraine Japan Morocco and Brazil The book joins a long line of approaches on the interrelations between ecological and mythical thinking and criticism that goes back to the early 20th century This volume will be of interest to students scholars activists and experts in environmental humanities myth and myth criticism literature and art on more than human and nature interaction ecocriticism environmental activism and climate change

collection of Haida myths and legends now in a gorgeous new package The linguist and ethnographer John Swanton took dictation from the last great Haida speaking storytellers poets and historians from the fall of 1900 through the summer of 1901 Together they created a great treasury of Haida oral literature in written form Having worked for many years with these century old manuscripts linguist and poet Robert Bringhurst brings both rigorous scholarship and a literary voice to the English translation of John Swanton s careful work He sets the stories in a rich context that reaches out to dozens of native oral literatures and to myth telling traditions around the globe Attractively redesigned this collection of First Nations oral literature is an important cultural record for future generations of Haida scholars and other interested readers It won the Edward Sapir Prize awarded by the Society for Linguistic Anthropology and it was chosen as the Literary Editor s Book of the Year by the Times of London Bringhurst brings these works to life in the English language and sets them in a context just as rich as the stories themselves one that reaches out to dozens of Native American oral literatures and to mythtelling traditions around the world

The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Sugars, 2015-11-02 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole

Reconsidering Canadian Curriculum Studies Nicholas Ng-A-Fook, Jennifer Rottmann, 2012-09-24 Comprised of chapters written by established Canadian curriculum scholars as well as junior scholars and graduate students this collection of essays provoke readers to imagine the different ways in which educational researchers can engage the narrative inquiry within the broader field of curriculum studies

Canadian Primal Mark Dickinson, 2021-02-18 Over the past few decades a group of writers we might call the Thinking and Singing poets have stood at the forefront of poetry in Canada These five poets Dennis Lee Don McKay Robert Bringhurst Jan Zwicky and Tim Lilburn are major voices in an era of ecological devastation and spiritual unease Their diverse questioning work suggests new ways to confront some of the most pressing issues of our time In vibrant prose Mark Dickinson explores the relationship between the lives of these poets and their writing examining their intersecting careers and friendships and the ways they learned from and challenged one another Canadian Primal uses an unconventional approach blending biography with literary analysis and drawing from meetings and correspondence with each poet over many years to trace the people and events that inspired the creation of important texts Dickinson tracks how each of the writers arrived at poetry as a way of being and at the heart of their poetics he finds both a musical intelligence and the crucial importance of the land Canadian Primal is literary biography reconceived as an adventure of the mind body and spirit Ebullient intelligent and eminently readable it reminds us that we can live on the earth in a different way true to the defining experiences of our lives surrounded by meaning and presence beyond our imagining

The Surface of Meaning Robert Bringhurst, 2008 The design and manufacture of books can tell as much about a people or a culture as the ambience of its streets and the architecture of its buildings In our everyday lives books surround us even if we are among the many who never read another one after high school Their very jacket design asks us to make meaning of their presence and when we open them the layout of words and stories within their covers makes us readers even before we begin to read To Robert Bringhurst typographer poet and writer the presence of books and the story of books in Canada are preludes to understanding our culture From the tattered book of Canadian poetry your moody cousin carried everywhere to the pristine hardcover book of Atwood s latest work in your brainy co worker s hands book design says much about who and where we are as Canadians In The Surface of Meaning Robert Bringhurst takes us on another of his walking tours this time through the bramble of English and French Canadian books and book design from the mid 18th Century to the present day Along the way he discovers a true image trove of identity culture and history And he does what no other work on books and publications does He creates a truly national survey of Canadian books by bringing Canada s long history of Aboriginal story telling into a context of book It is a context that goes into the depths of our prehistory far beyond the printed page The Surface of Meaning is a tribute to Canadian books and publishing It is irresistible to readers who love books as well as to designers and others who may simply prefer to look at them
