Play and STEM Education in the Early Years Sue

Dale Tunnicliffe, Teresa J. Kennedy, 2022-06-16 This edited book provides an overview of unstructured and structured play scenarios crucial to developing young children's awareness, interest, and ability to learn Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) in informal and formal education environments. The key elements for developing future STEM capital enabling children to use their intuitive critical thinking and problem-solving abilities and promoting active citizenship and a scientifically literate workforce begins in the early years as children learn through play employing trial and error and often investigating on their own. Forty-seven STEM experts come together from 16 countries: Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Canada, England, Finland, Germany, Israel, Jamaica, Japan, Malta, Mauritius, Mexico, Russia, Sweden, and the USA, and describe educational policies and experiences related to young learners 3-4 years of age as well as students attending formal nursery school, early primary school, and the early years classes post 5 years of age. The book is intended for parents seeking to provide STEM activities for their children at home and in playgroups; citizen scientists seeking guidance to provide children with quality educational activities; daycare practitioners providing educational structures for young children from birth to formal education; primary school teachers and preservice teachers seeking to teach preschool kindergarten or children typically aged 5-8 years old in grades 1-3; as well as researchers and policy makers working in science didactics with small children.

The EdTech Advocate's Guide to Leading Change in Schools Mark Gura, 2018-02-27 New and emerging tech coaches and technology leaders will get guidance in making decisions and taking the right steps to effectively manage change in a shifting education landscape. The education field is in the midst of a complete digital transformation. Accordingly, tech coaches and other school leaders must shift from simply bringing technology into schools to identifying how the various elements of this changing landscape fit together to form an improved version of education. These changes affect everyone in the school, and as entire school communities are impacted, informed individuals who can guide the transformation are needed. The problem is that there are not nearly enough certified tech coaches in schools, and those who are in place are not always adequately prepared to handle this new mission. This book aims to address these issues by offering advice on planning and guiding change in digital age schools. Examples of digital age schools and advice from change agents in the field. Activities, action plans, templates, checklists, and other planning tools to help tech coaches and other leaders put what they learn into action. This book helps tech coaches and school technology leaders embrace their roles and guides them as they make important decisions and take meaningful steps to effectively participate in this education transformation. Audience: Technology coaches, technology directors, educators.
