Southampton Chronicle Richard Massey:

The Southampton Chronicle Richard Massey, 2018-11-01 The Making of a Name is a Terrible Chore Gregory knew they hunted him but did they have the horses to see it through Doubtful but soon the answer would be known He neared the end of a mournful poem that had bedeviled him for a fortnight Once done he would again ride out and give test to their mettle Gregory gazed into the raftered reaches of the hall and thought of home An autumn gust rattled the shutters candles flickered and somewhere out there they waited He lit a stub of Frankincense dipped his quill into the inkwell and hunched over the golden sheet of parchment Asked to write a chronicle of the times Gregory with his merchant's wit his silver and wine and a talent for arriving in places where he doesn't belong journeys through late 13th Century England to ramshackle villages and splendid cathedral cities to dank castles and even a remote battlefield in the foggy northern hinterlands What he finds is a realm of toil and gossip tragedy and cheer and hard lines between the accepted and the forbidden As the list of friends and enemies grows Gregory finds himself courting something he never before imagined the trappings of fame The Southampton Chronicle born from the dust and blood of the Middle Ages itself yields an unlikely hero a chronicler who sheds obscurity in claiming the highest title available to him Gregory of Bordeaux

Living Behind Time J.B. Hogan, 2019-08-27 Most of us are living behind time trapped in some phase of our past like an insect in amber So says Frank Mason protagonist of Living Behind Time a pre 9/11 on the road story with a big twist Evoking echoes of the 1950s Beats Frank Mason the protagonist reverses the standard east west American journey by going west to east Leaving his home in San Diego California he makes a solo cross country trip to Myrtle Beach South Carolina Along the way he revisits friends and locations from the past He encounters a cult in the California desert acts as a decoy to get immigrants into Arizona connects with old friends in Boulder Colorado and Columbia Missouri There's a serio comic meetup near Kansas City with a friend who's taken up cultivating cannabis He then reengages with an old girlfriend in Memphis but reluctantly goes on to the Gulf Coast and Pensacola where an older couple nearly adopts him to make up for the loss of their own son After an eventful stop with friends near Raleigh North Carolina Frank's cross country trek concludes in Myrtle Beach where he tries to process the recent discoveries he has made about himself and the nation's recent past In the end as he prepares to retrace his steps yet again he learns that no matter who we are individually or as a country there is still hope in a shared future

Losing Cotton J.B. Hogan, 2019-03-05 American Graffiti meets The Last Picture Show In the summer of 1963 the country is poised at a historical threshold The lingering slower pace of the 1950s still prevails in much of the land but is beginning to give way to the upscale rhythms of the new decade On the surface the small southern California farm town of Cotton seems like a community caught in amber Life rolls on slowly here as it has for decades But in this critical history altering year the nation is on the cusp of a new era that will sweep across it engulfing even little towns like Cotton with a new often unsettling wave of unprecedented change Yet Losing Cotton may not be an entirely bad thing The older more staid age must give way to a more flexible one as stagnant social patterns are replaced by more dynamic ones It is a time of transition for the country for Cotton and for the people white or of color young or old rich or poor who inhabit this small desert town and its environs But they will they must make this transition Time waits for no one for no place But like most everyone lucky or unlucky enough to live it they have to try and find a way to come out the other side Life goes on for the living whether they like it or not It s a matter of fact and not of choice The future is what each of us chooses to make it The Railway Chronicle ,1845 The County councils and municipal corporations companion, magisterial directory, statistical chronicle and local government year book, compiled and ed. by sir J.R.S.
